Big Surplus Butter Sale Planned

Canada May Sell 6,500,000 Pounds For East Germany

By VICTOR MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Negotiations are nearing completion for the sale of more than 6,500,000 pounds of surplus Canadian butter to a European importing firm which, in turn, is reported to have buyers in East Germany, behind the Iron Curtain.

The importer, according to informed sources here Saturday, is a concern with its head office in the Netherlands.

The federal government's Agricultural Prices Support Board is reported to have received notice of a firm offer from The Netherlands' importer for 3,000 long tons (approximately 6,600,000 pounds).

The negotiations are understood to have included a request for an option to buy an additional smaller quantity. The total sale if completed might amount to nearly 10,000,000 pounds.

RESEMBLES CZECH SALE

The deal would be similar to that completed earlier this year under which 314,832 pounds of butter were sold to Communist Czechoslovakia for 37 cents a pound—19 cents less than the going price for butter established by the Prices Support Board.

The price for the new deal could not be learned Saturday. Government sources declined to disclose what price was involved pointing out that the deal was still under negotiation and no firm price had been fixed upon at this stage.

$1.4 MILLION LOSS?

If the price is 37 cents, as it was in the Czechoslovakian deal, the loss to the government will be around $1,400,000. The pegged price paid under the price support program has been increased by carrying charges of several cents per pound.

In the Czechoslovakian deal, the Canadian exporter in Montreal sold sweet or unsalted butter obtained in Saskatchewan. He then withdrew an equivalent amount of 1954 salted butter from the government's stocks.

Total butter stocks, including the 1955 surplus production, in government's hands, have been estimated at 95,000,000 pounds.

Sunderland Swamped 8-2 By Luton Town

LONDON (Reuters)—Luton Town today swamped Sunderland, English First Division soccer league leaders, 8-2. The defeat sent Sunderland down to fifth place in the standings.

Luton Town, promoted from the Second Division this season, whipped the powerful Sunderland outfit by ramming in four goals in a 13-minute spell in the first half. The league leaders never recovered.

Only five days ago, Sunderland was nosed out 1-0 by the Moscow Dynamo squad. Blackpool slipped into the league's top spot today by edging West Bromwich, 2-1. Manchester United blanked Chelsea, 3-0, to total 23 points—same as Blackpool—but an inferior goal average put United in second place.

Third and fourth places in the First Division now are held by Charlton and Burnley, respectively, with Sunderland close behind. Luton's victory today gave it ninth place.

Alouettes Enter Grey Cup

Meet Eskimos In Vancouver

ALOUETTES 38
ARGONAUTS 36

MONTREAL (CP)—

Montreal Alouettes struck back with a devastating five-touchdown drive in the second half today to squeeze through to a 38-36 victory over Toronto Argos in the spectacular eastern football final.

Winner of today's game goes into the Grey Cup final against the western titleholders, Edmonton Eskimos, at Vancouver's Empire Stadium next Saturday. Eskimos defeated Alouettes in last year's final.

Crowd of 23,000 jammed Molson Stadium for the final, played in 32-degree weather. Fans lined up three hours before game time for general admission seats.

Alouettes had pulled into a 9-0 lead at the end of the first quarter of a field goal by Bud Korchak and a converted touchdown by Herb Trawick, who came galloping up to recover a loose ball in a wild scramble over the goal line after a kick by Montreal's Tex Coulter.

Then the Argos blitz descended. Duxinski threw two touchdown passes to Tharp and Al Pfeiffer, and Shatto and Tharp scooting over on ground plays for the others. Pfeiffer converted three of the touchdowns. The Argos' other point came on the final play of the second quarter when J. C. Caroline was rouged on Gerry Doucette's kick.

Deaf, Mute Blinded By Wartime Shell

CASPERTA, Italy (AP)—Antonio Orsi, 20, a deaf mute since birth, found a wartime shell in the woods. He was playing with the shell, authorities said, when it exploded. He will be blind for the rest of his life.

ESKIMOS ARRIVE 10 A.M. SUNDAY

Edmonton Eskimos, defending Grey Cup champions, will arrive at Patricia Bay airport at 10 Sunday morning to prepare for the Canadian football final in Vancouver next Saturday.

TCA officials confirmed today that the team would arrive at 10 Sunday morning, subject to any delays caused by bad weather. The Eskimos will leave Edmonton at 7:30 Sunday morning.

Coach Frank "Pop" Ivy will bring along approximately 40 players and officials to Victoria to begin secret training sessions in Athletic Park. The team will leave the city Friday for Vancouver.

Ivy plans two practices a day for his charges, and has adopted a "let's wait and see" attitude toward the offers of entertainment and hospitality tendered by Victoria citizens.

One offer the team will accept, Ivy said today, is the special showing of "The Kentucky" at the Odeon.

HIGHWAY ICE PUTS CAR IN SOMERSAULT

What goes? Policeman might be asking as he surveys somersault scene off Trans-Canada Highway near Burnside Road this morning. The answer: Mrs. Helene L. C. Hopfe, 3481 Veteran, and her late-model car. They went over the bank on the new highway outlet and ice film on hard-top was blamed. Car was damaged to extent of about $1,000, but Mrs. Hopfe escaped injury. She was driving in westerly direction at time she lost control. Roads in area were in treacherous condition between 7:30 and 9 a.m. Pavement looked wet but it was frozen wetness, many motorists discovered to their sorrow. Towing service companies were kept on the jump for a two-hour period.

Saanich Calls Parley To Air Gravel Issue

An emergency meeting of Saanich council to discuss a charge by Mr. Robert Fleming that large quantities of gravel have been taken out of a municipal pit without knowledge of Saanich administration has been called for Wednesday of next week.

STEVENSON ON TV TONIGHT

CHICAGO (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson makes his first speech as a candidate for the presidency tonight before 2,500 of the nation's top Democrats.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Gov. Averell Harriman of New York will also address the $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner.

Stevenson's speech is scheduled on television's Channel 4 at 11:15 p.m. tonight.

Mr. Fleming said today Reeve Joseph Casey told him to substantiate the charge in writing, or to make a public apology.

"I intend to do nothing of the sort until the engineer or Mr. Casey can produce documents pertaining to gravel agreements," he countered.

"It seems the only solution is for me to go to the provincial government and ask a complete public investigation into Saanich sewage and gravel," the councillor added.

Estimated value of the missing gravel is $100,000. David Wright, a candidate for Saanich council, employed six years in the public works, sewers and waterworks department of the municipality, backed Councillor Fleming in his charge.

He said he "saw all this going on but couldn't do anything about it."

INDEPENDENT PROBE

Saanich, he said, did not keep a check on how much gravel was removed from the pit. Mr. Wright said there should be a completely independent investigation of both public works and sewer department.

Deputy Municipal Affairs Minister J. E. Brown said reports of complaints about the pit had been received but "we will only take drastic measures if Saanich doesn't take action."

Municipal engineer H. D. Dawson, said he is certain all gravel removed from the pit, located on Sayward Road, could be accounted for.

He said there was a "gentlemen's agreement" with a private gravel dealer by which Saanich could remove gravel from the firm's pit, and the firm could get gravel from the municipal pit.

Reeve Casey said it would take a month to make a full report on the matter.

Drivers Fall Prey To Icy Streets

Cars and trucks slipped, slid, clashed, clanged, and in some cases capsized early this morning when freezing temperatures transformed wet streets briefly into glistening sheets of ice.

Most serious accident injured four persons slightly at 8:55 a.m. on the Patricia Bay Highway when a car driven north by James O. Mulligan, 1637 Davie, collided with a car being driven south by Mrs. C. D. Eves, Bazar Bay.

According to reports, Mr. Mulligan's car started to slide, and Mrs. Eves skidded as she attempted to avoid an accident. Damage was estimated at $1,200.

No one was injured in an earlier crash when a car driven north on Cordova Bay road by Mrs. Kathleen Northup, 4317 Majestic, skidded on ice north of Mount Douglas and crashed into trees that prevented her from tumbling over a 70-foot bank. Total damage was $1,000.

COAT OF ICE

Motorists found that driving conditions generally were good at 7 a.m. By 7:30 trouble was beginning, and by 8 o'clock portions of the pavement that had been wet were coated with ice. After about an hour conditions began to improve.

"Temperatures kept dropping gradually all night," said weatherman William Mackie in explaining the brief freeze-up. "The coldest time usually is just before dawn, and today the temperature obviously did not reach freezing point until that time. When the sun came up the streets cleared again."

Highways department officials said roads in the district, including the Malahat, were "fine" with the exception of a "icy spots."

"Sand trucks are out, and we will be watching the roads all night," a department spokesman said. "We will have 24-hour shifts at work."

Mr. Mackie predicted continuing mild temperatures, with variable cloudiness, isolated showers, and some sunny periods for the week-end.

Temperatures will range between 35 and 45 degrees tonight and Sunday.

Victoria's recent cold spell, worst in history for any November, began Nov. 11 and persisted until Thursday.

150 Search For Deerholme Man; Tracking Dog Used By Rangers

More than 150 men today fanned out from Deerholme, four miles west of Duncan, in search of Lewis W. Billings, 36, missing since 6 a.m. Thursday when he set off on a hunting trip.

"He told me he would be back at 10 a.m.," his wife told the Times today. "I don't know where he went, but he usually hunted toward Cowichan River, a mile north of here."

"I think he must have had an accident," she said.

Taking part in the search are RCMP, Deerholme and Duncan residents, and 12 members of the South Vancouver Island Rangers from Victoria, who took a tracking dog with them.

The missing man is a sawyer at the Tommy Dahl mill in Deerholme, and the father of two young children. The family lives on Glenora Road, Deerholme.

He was not missed until late Thursday. Snow began falling in the area shortly after he set off, and from nine to 10 inches was reported later in the day.

An unsuccessful search was conducted Friday by 35 Deerholme residents and RCMP. Mrs. Amy Dahl, Mrs. Billings' aunt, acted for Mrs. Billings in making arrangements for the search. Frankie Morse, well-known Victoria rifle shot, had charge of the Victoria rangers' party.

MONTREAL (BUP)—An automobile went out of control today, struck two poles and a brick wall and killed its three occupants—Edmond Jolicoeur, 38; George Martin, 39, and Guy Hotte.

MARIE DIONNE QUILTS CONVENT FOR HOSPITAL

It is the second time in 16 months the 21-year-old girl has left the institution where she is studying to be a nun. Her quintuplet sister Emilie died in a Quebec province nursing home in August, 1954.

Marie's family said she left the Servants of the Blessed convent in Quebec City and travelled here with a nurse.

She was reported suffering from "loss of appetite."

Notre Dame d'Esperance Hospital, where Marie's sister Cecile and Yvonne are training as nurses, said she will be kept under observation for a month.

3 Kicked to Death By Mob in Morocco

RABAT French Morocco (AP)—While Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef held consultations today in his palace aimed at restoring peace to Morocco, an angry mob trampled to death a caliph and two other persons in the palace courtyard.

The slain caliph, an assistant to the pasha (governor) of Fez, was Taleb el Baghdad. He was known as a former sympathizer of Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat, who replaced Ben Youssef during his two years of exile, which ended this week. Arafat now is in retirement in Tangier.

French reports said the caliph drew a pistol and a dagger after he was attacked, but the crowd jumped on him, stabbing him and then trampling him to death. The fighting became general in the inner courtyard, where delegations were waiting to be received by the newly-restored sultan.

FIND OTHER BODIES

No French police were present, only nationalist party members serving as monitors. When the fighting died down, two more bodies were found.

After violence was reported in Marrakech, a native policeman shot and wounded a Moroccan woman and a man. A crowd quickly gathered, poured gasoline on the attacker and burned him to death.

PILOT FORGOT TO WEIGH THE ANCHOR

DALLAS (AP)—A light plane crashed Friday because the pilot forgot to pull in his anchor.

Hal Rachal told police he tied a 200-pound concrete weight to the tail assembly of his plane Thursday night because of high wind. Friday he taxied from his parking spot, unaware he was dragging the anchor, and got 25 feet in the air before the weight proved too much and pulled the craft to the ground. Rachal wasn't hurt but the plane was wrecked.

Veiled Thugs Lock Up Staff, Take $2,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—Two armed bandits, wearing veils suspended from their hats, got away with $2,000 in cash and cheques when they held up Abbotsford Wood and Coal Co. Ltd.

The two thugs Friday locked owner Mrs. M. T. Delesalle and a clerk and an accountant in a closet before making their getaway.

The fuel office is located in the basement of a private home. Police said the men were described as a "Mutt and Jeff" team. One man was tall and thin, while the other was about 5 foot 7 inches, weighing 150 pounds.

Both carried pistols. Don Gemino, accountant for the firm, was forced to open the safe at gun point by a thug who threatened to "blow out your brains."

Before making their getaway, the bandits tore out the phones.

102,000 Visit Art Gallery Here In Four Years, 143 Exhibitions

The Art Gallery of Greater Victoria will have been in operation four years Sunday, during which time visitors totalled 102,000, curator Colin Graham said today.

Visits now average 30,000 annually, up from 19,000 visitors the first year.

Sunday will be the last day of the 15th Victoria International Salon of Photography, open free of charge to the public from 1 to 5.30 p.m. and from 7.30 to 9.30 p.m.

Tuesday the gallery opens its third annual survey of Vancouver Island sculpture, drawings, prints and crafts. On display with this will be English and Canadian paintings from the collection of George Parker of Victoria.

During the four-year period, 143 exhibitions have been offered to the public, which has also participated in 2,800 different functions such as lectures, film evenings, concerts, painting classes and meetings.

DONATIONS
During this period private citizens contributed $32,800 in donations; the city and municipalities gave grants totalling $3,650, and educational grants from the provincial government totalled $1,750.

The gallery women's committee, formed in June, 1963, has contributed $4,000 in gifts to the gallery for improvements, purchases for the permanent collections and formation of an art library.

More than 1,000 Greater Victoria children during this time received painting courses at the gallery.

Gallery history actually goes back to 1945 when it started in a rented store on Yates called "The Little Centre." Next year it moved to Broughton Street where it became the Arts Centre, and in 1951 to the present Moss Street structure, a gift of Miss Sara Spencer.

The meeting was chaired by Mrs. J. R. Marrs, president.

Peace Drive Will Continue, Ike Pledges

Big 4 Deadlock Blamed on Soviets

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower pledged Friday night the United States, "will never admit defeat" in its quest for world peace despite the deadlock with Russia at Geneva.

"Success may be long in coming," he said, but "no setback, no obstacle to progress will ever deter this government and our people from the great effort to establish a just and durable peace."

State Secretary Dulles relayed Eisenhower's views at the end of a 30-minute radio-television report on the Big Four foreign-ministers meeting at Geneva.

Dulles pinned the blame for the Geneva stalemate squarely on the Russians.

Dulles built his 4,000-word speech around five questions which, he said, "are in the air" as a result of the failure of the Geneva meeting to make a single agreement. The questions he asked and the answers he provided were:

1. Is the "spirit of Geneva" dead?—Not entirely, because Soviet leaders "seem not to want to revert to the earlier reliance on threats and invective."

2. Has the risk of general war increased? No, nothing that happened changes President Eisenhower's July estimate, made after the Big Four "summit" meeting, that war is "less likely."

COLD WAR ON AGAIN
3. Will the cold war be resumed full force?—Yes, in terms of "peaceful competition" but it is hoped without the "hostility and animosity which so defiled" past East-West relations.

4. Will the Eisenhower administration have to radically revise defence and foreign aid programs?—No, because the government never lowered its guard on the basis of promises by Russia at last July's "summit" meeting. They will remain the same size and scope.

5. Are future negotiations with Russia ruled out?—No, but it "would of course be foolish" to try new talks under present conditions. The unity of the West eventually will force Soviet leaders to change their policy and accept agreements in everyone's interest.

W. A. Nicholson, tourist board manager, said in Edinburgh that Brockington and CPR president N. R. Crump will meet before Sunday to discuss the matter.

Dame Flora, who has come to Victoria to meet clansmen, was presented with a totem pole at the dinner. The presentation was made by Mrs. Georgina MacKay on behalf of the society.

The chief was entertained with Scottish songs sung by Mrs. Catherine Packford and John Bell, and bagpipe solos by pipe major Ian Duncan.

The meeting was chaired by Mrs. J. R. Marrs, president.

EXECUTION ORDERED FOR 'MORAL IMBECILE'

TORONTO (CP)—Keith Baylis, 24-year-old youth termed a "moral imbecile" by his defence lawyer, Friday night was found guilty of murder. He was sentenced to be hanged Feb. 7.

Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel pronounced sentence. The jury recommended mercy. Baylis, of Toronto, was accused of shooting down Kenneth Jones, a finance company branch manager, last June 17. Jones was shot on a downtown street when he pursued two gunmen who had robbed his office of $180.

Young Liberals Score Kiernan 'Milk' Failure

MANNING PARK, B.C. (CP)—The Young Liberals of British Columbia meeting here in convention condemned in an unanimous resolution the failure of Minister of Agriculture Kiernan to maintain public confidence in the sanitary conditions of British Columbia dairy farms.

The resolution followed a release of the Clyne report earlier this week.

In talking to the resolution Liberal Leader Arthur Laing said it was unfortunate so much publicity had been given the Clyne report in connection with careless farmers as the most important extract.

Mr. Laing said he thought the farmers in the Fraser Valley among the best in the nation. Delegates passed the following resolution following Mr. Laing's address:

"We insist the government, in co-operation with milk producers, launch an immediate and vigorous campaign to assure the public that all milk sold to the public is wholesome and comes from dairy farms with a high standard of sanitation."

A resolution urging the federal government to adopt a distinctive Canadian flag was defeated at the convention.

It was one of nine considered by delegates at the snow-covered Pinewood Lodge on the Hope-Princeton highway 150 miles east of Vancouver.

It was agreed Canadians would like a distinctive flag but at the present time Mr. Laing said the provinces could not agree on a design.

Another hotly debated resolution urged a change in divorce laws in Canada.

A resolution favoring the abolition of capital punishment was defeated.

The election of officers is on today's schedule.

Judge Unmoved By Freedomite Mothers' Tears

NELSON, B.C. (CP)—Tearful mothers of the Sons of Freedom Doukhobors pleaded for hours at this West Kootenay centre Friday for the return of their children from the New Denver welfare home.

Alternating in Russian and broken-English, they charged their children were not being cared for and demanded their release.

The delegation assembled before three authorities after four mothers had made an unauthorized, early morning tour of the home.

"Our children are sleeping with their clothes on to keep warm. Their food is served cold and they are undernourished and uncared for," cried the mothers before magistrate William Evans.

More than 70 Sons of Freedom children are housed and taught in the welfare home under government orders after their families refused to send them to public schools for religious reasons.

REPEATED PLEAS

Mother delegations have made repeated pleas to the government representatives to have their children returned.

Friday 23 women visited welfare superintendent W. H. Crossley, then sought out Emmett Guiley, Doukhobor affairs committee secretary, before going to the magistrate.

"I have told you before that whenever you comply with our laws and promise to send your children to school, then you can have them back," the magistrate said.

"Until you give your word you will let your children go to school, nothing will be done."

$1 A LETTER WOULD HIT CHEST TARGET

About 20,000 letters are in the mails today from the Community Chest of Greater Victoria, appealing to citizens for contributions to boost the chest appeal to its objective of $210,000.

The campaign is still short about $20,000, and chest officials say the objective is the "very minimum" needed to meet obligations here for the 17 agencies which the chest supports.

Recipients of the letters are asked to enclose as much as possible, be it even $1, to help swell the service fund.

It will be the last appeal by the chest in the current campaign.

Rubinoff to Play Strauss to Boogie

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

One glimpse at the program which Rubinoff will present on Monday afternoon and evening at Kiwanis-sponsored concerts in Victoria carries conviction that he is the violinist-extraordinary of the day.

It is sparkling with versatility and showmanship. From such accepted concert violinist fare as the Dvorak-Helfetz "Hora Staccato," it veers to a premiere violin solo performance of Debussy's "Clair de Lune," and in another complete switch of mood to the ballad of Davy Crockett played in 15 characteristic styles, including Carnegie Hall, Strauss waltz, boogie, Sousa march and low down blues.

At the conclusion of the program, Rubinoff will present a panoramic treatment of toe-tickling melodies in the supple style of the hoedown fiddler.

Rubinoff plays to approximately 1,000 school assemblies a year without remuneration. In Victoria he will perform at S. J. Willis Junior High School auditorium at a special students' matinee, commencing at 3.30.

His evening concert, for which tickets are obtainable at Eaton's box office or Kiwanis Club members, will take place at the Central Junior High School at 8.15 o'clock.

Bank of Canada Again Boosts Interest Rate

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada Friday night applied another brake on credit, increasing its interest tolls on loans to chartered banks by one-half of one per cent to an all-time high of 2 1/2 per cent.

This is the third increase in the bank's discount rate in 2 1/2 months. The first took place Aug. 6 when the central bank rate was boosted to two per cent from 1 1/2 and the second on Oct. 12 when the rate went up to 2 1/4 per cent.

The Canadian move followed a decision Thursday by four federal reserve banks in the United States to increase their lending rate to 2 1/4 per cent from 2 1/8. The Bank of England rate is 4 1/2 per cent.

As usual, the bank gave no reason for the third increase. However, the step is understood to flow from two considerations:

1. Canada's general interest rates are among the lowest in the western world. Foreign investors in recent months have shown a tendency to cash in their Canadian investments and transfer their money into other countries where yields are higher.

2. Federal officials appar-

WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

By AB KENT and IRVING STRICKLAND

Do you think Victoria should have an automobile testing station?

William Wallis, salesman, 728 Cloverdale: "Yes I do. Anyone who has children, especially, should have a safe car, not only for their own safety but for the safety of children walking on the streets."

Rod Hendry, bowldrome manager, 495 Victoria Ave.: "I certainly do feel Victoria should have a testing station. Statistics prove that a large proportion of automobile accidents are due to mechanical faults, especially in steering and brakes."

Mrs. J. Butcher, housewife, 1505 Morrison: "I think it would cut down on the number of automobile accidents to a considerable extent. Anything that would reduce the ratio of auto accidents would be worthwhile."

Mrs. C. J. Highest, housewife, 2447 Camelot: "I come from a city which has a testing station (Vancouver), and although I don't drive a car myself, I think it is a very good idea and one which would eliminate many needless accidents."

R. S. Walls, salesman, 1144 Esquimalt: "Definitely, I do. There are too many cars in poor operating condition on the road today. To a certain extent a testing station would reduce a lot of minor accidents. The station should be run by the government."

Otto Schaffner, barber, 1139 Chapman: "I think there should be a testing station to test cars every six months, and that the government should do the testing. This would make for safer driving and fewer accidents."

FOR KIWANIS VILLAGE

Massey Presents Medal to Architect

Victoria architect, Charles E. Craig, was in Ottawa Friday to receive the Governor-General's Gold Medal for his project here, Kiwanis Village, "considered the finest architectural project built in Canada in the last two years."

Mr. Craig was winner of the category devoted to group housing.

His project, built and administered by Kiwanis Village Society, provides low rental housing for deserving elderly couples.

Three other B.C. architects won silver medals of the 10 awards made in Canada-wide competition.

A member of the architectural firm of Sharp and Thompson, Berwick, Pratt and Charles E. Craig, Mr. Craig gave his services to assist the housing project.

MASSEY OFFICIATES

His prize, which was presented in the National Gallery Friday night by Governor-General Vincent Massey, comes from competition administered by the Royal Architectural Institute of Canada.

The institute said the selection jury was impressed by the social aspects of Mr. Craig's work.

Silver medals were also won by Erickson and Massey, Vancouver, for a West Vancouver home; Gardiner, Thornton, Gathe and Associates, Vancouver, for St. Anthony's Church, there, entered in the ecclesiastical category; and Semmens and Simpson, also Vancouver, for a building owned by the B.C. Sugar Refining Co. Ltd. in Vancouver, entered in the office buildings category.

'Time Bomb' On TCA Plane Proves Hoax

OTTAWA (BUP)—A crank or crackpot prankster phoned the Ottawa Citizen newsroom today and warned in a sepulchral voice, "there's a time bomb on the flight 3 TCA plane" bound for Toronto.

"I had to let you know," the disguised voice said, and then faded off.

The newspaper immediately alerted Trans-Canada Air Lines' officials and police. The plane was then about half-way to Toronto's Malton airport on the 65-minute flight.

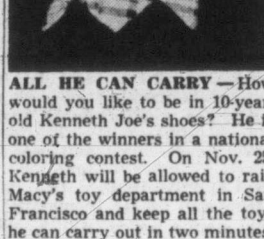

A radio warning was sent to the pilot and to Malton. The passengers were not told anything "so they wouldn't be needlessly alarmed," TCA officials said.

As soon as the passengers were disembarked at Malton an intensive search of the plane and its baggage was made. Nothing was found.

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Salina Vionogradova of Russia set a world record of 20 feet 8 1/2 inches in the women's broad jump at Tbilisi, Georgia, Friday during the Soviet athletics championship.

The official record of 20 feet 7 1/2 inches is held by Yvette Williams of New Zealand, but Miss Vionogradova equalled this in September.

U.K. Quashes Plan to End Death Penalty

LONDON (Reuters)—The government Thursday quashed a move in Parliament to abolish capital punishment.

The government said there was insufficient time to debate a private bill in the House of Commons for abolition of the death sentence.

Labor member Sidney Silverman protested that the House was "completely unanimous" when he introduced the bill Tuesday. But government spokesman Harry Crookshank replied that although the House was unanimous in allowing the introduction of the bill, that had "nothing to do with its merits at all."

Reports Said Unfair

LONDON (Reuters)—London's police chief has opened a campaign to renew public confidence in Scotland Yard, shaken by a growing outcry against corruption in the force.

Chief Sir John Nott-Bower Thursday branded bribery reports as "grossly unfair" and urged the public not to condemn the force because a "few weaker spirits yield to temptation."

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) A (Don't Miss)

BB (Worthwhile) B (For Rainy Days) C (No put to time)

(A) "THE GIRL IN THE RED VELVET SWING" (Capitol)—Because the story is based on one of the most read-about cause celebres of the century, the shooting of leading U.S. architect Stanford White by millionaire playboy Harry Kendall Thaw over the affections of Gibson cover girl Evelyn Nesbitt, 20th Century-Fox's "The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing" is intensely interesting.

Rich in the color and decor of a bygone age, the plot tells how Architect White (Ray Milland) lures model Evelyn (Joan Collins) into his New York love nest, woos her (against his better judgment, if not hers) on affection, champagne and money. Later, however, when she demands marriage he confesses he loves his wife too much to give her up but compromises—if that is the word—by enrolling her in a fashionable finishing school.

THERE EVELYN IS taken ill and then nursed back to health under the stimulus of old admirer Harry Thaw. Later they run off to Europe together where they become engaged after she confesses that she was White's mistress. As time progresses following their marriage, Thaw, possessing more money than stability, turns on her, his jealousy a raging thing. One night, in old Madison Square Garden, he draws out a small gold-plated revolver and slays the architect, shouting "This is the man who ruined my wife."

NO DOUBT THE RESULTING stories in the press of the day made meaty reading. According to the movie version (Miss Nesbitt was engaged as consultant) the girl in the red velvet swing testified on her husband's behalf out of sorrow for Thaw's mother. It succeeded in having him acquitted of the murder charge but saw him committed to an institution for the insane. For those who did not live in the days the tragedy occurred it is impossible to know what feeling existed for Evelyn Nesbitt—but the movie version definitely leaves behind a feeling of infinite pity for her.

Faithfuls from this corner to English actress Collins who acquires herself nobly as do Milland and Farley Granger as the unhappy Thaw. Although it is doubtful if the picture will win any awards "The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing" makes for solid entertainment, especially for those who remember or who have read about the case.

'Twas Only a Hole in the Road --But, O, the Trouble It Made

BY ED SHANKE

LONDON (AP)—This is a story about nothing and all the trouble it caused.

It began about a year ago in Austin Friars, a narrow street in the City of London. A coal truck mounted the sidewalk one day and smashed the sidewalk. Now there's a hole there two feet square and nobody wants it.

Each day pedestrians step into the street to pass the warning trestle with two red flags. Each night the city fathers send a workman to light two red oil lamps.

But oil and a workman's time cost money.

Why should the city corporation pay? After all, it doesn't own the hole.

The stretch of pavement once belonged to a firm which went into liquidation.

CROWN DIDN'T WANT IT

The city fathers went to the treasury solicitor to see whether he would accept the hole on behalf of the crown. Then the government could pay to mend it.

But the crown could find no use for a hole or see any value in owning one. It disowned it.

formally in the official London Gazette.

That left only one course—the law.

The city corporation was granted a summons but because there is no owner it was served on the hole.

Tacked to the red and white trestle over the hole is a "dangerous structures summons" informing the "owner" of the structure that:

"A complaint has this day (Nov. 11) been made by Edward Henry Nichols, town clerk, that you failed to take down, secure or repair the defective or cracked or broken portions of the said structure and make all property secure. You are thereby summoned to appear to answer the said complaint."

TAKEN TO COURT

And that's how it came about that an usher bawled out the next case in the corridors of ancient Guildhall magistrate's court today:

"The owner or occupier of a hole in the pavement of Austin Friars."

Judge L. A. K. Block faced up to the fact that no one owned the hole and made an order requiring it to be repaired in two days.

Then it will be legal for the city corporation to move in and repair it.

Keeping Canada's Character

MR. PICKERSGILL'S SPEECH here yesterday laid down the basic immigration policy of the Canadian Government. It is to encourage a larger immigration but to recognize two limitations on this movement. The first is the economic capacity of the nation to absorb immigrants; the second is to make sure that immigration does not alter the "fundamental character of our population."

Mr. Pickersgill is not seriously concerned at present about the first point. The nation, he believes, can comfortably absorb more newcomers than it has been receiving in 1955. He is disappointed at the recent drop in this movement but observes that Canada cannot compel foreigners to come here. In some degree, he thinks, immigration has been discouraged in the present year by widespread, and perhaps exaggerated reports of seasonal unemployment last winter. But the chief factor is a boom throughout Europe which naturally has persuaded most Europeans to stay at home.

Probably, Mr. Pickersgill adds, Canada could not have increased the inflow of immigrants under existing conditions without offering them financial inducements which the government is not prepared to offer to our own people, in the way of guaranteed employment or preferential treatment. Australia is attracting as many Europeans as ever but only by granting that kind of financial aid.

On the whole, however, Mr. Pickersgill is not disappointed in the size of our total postwar immigration. About a million and a quarter immigrants have come here in that period and, with our own natural increase, have raised the national population from twelve millions to over fifteen and a half millions. Those are pretty formidable figures but Mr. Pickersgill still hopes that the government can increase the inflow next year.

He has no doubt about the second fundamental of an immigration policy laid down after the war by Mr. Mackenzie King—Canada should seek immigrants who are "likely to make good citizens." To that end, Mr. Pickersgill says, few Canadians would support unrestricted immigration of foreigners regardless of their origins and way of life. And few people will disagree with the proposition that immigration should not be allowed to alter the fundamental character of our people.

This does not mean, and in practical administration could not mean, that we should try to maintain any precise racial balance. It does mean that we should seek for the most part peoples who will be happy and successful in this country and will quickly adapt themselves to our ways.

It follows that we should secure the bulk of our immigrants from Britain and those countries of northern and western Europe "whose historical traditions and political and social institutions are most like our own and whose people therefore find it easiest to adapt themselves quickly to Canadian life and share readily in the duties and responsibilities of Canadian citizenship."

Most Canadians will approve that thesis. It is idle to suppose, as Mr. Pickersgill admits, that such a policy can avoid giving preference to some kinds of immigrants over others. No one, he says, is prohibited from entering Canada solely because of his race, but a racial preference is deliberately maintained, as it must be, if the basic character of Canada is to be maintained.

It is one thing to insist that all people within Canada must be treated alike. It is quite another, as Mr. Pickersgill says, to encourage immigrants who obviously will not adapt themselves to our ways or earn a satisfactory living.

Mr. Pickersgill has stated his policy with candor and cleared up many misunderstandings. How well has the policy actually worked?

No one can be sure about that. We do know, however, that Canada has absorbed a million and a quarter newcomers without any serious economic disturbance—in itself a remarkable achievement. Only 3,000 immigrants and visitors have failed so seriously in their new environment that the government felt compelled to deport them.

On those figures the selection of immigrants seems to have been successful. The nation as a whole undoubtedly will agree that selection must continue. It may regret the recent drop in immigration but will hope that Mr. Pickersgill can attract more of the people whom this country needs and desires.

From the Isle of Skye

VICTORIA'S WELCOME TO Dame Flora MacLeod, chief of the clan, has spread far beyond those who bear that name or who boast of even the slightest Scottish connection. The distinguished visitor, whose bright eyes and youthful energy belie her years, has won the admiration of all who have seen privileged to meet her. She has made a host of friends outside as well as inside the MacLeod family circle.

It is an epic journey on which she is now engaged. To visit all parts of this continent and make the acquaintance of thousands upon thousands of clansmen and women, all of whom look to her as their chief, must be an impressive experience.

In this particular part of North America, where Scotsmen have played so great a part since the days of earliest discovery—there was a Dr. Menzies in Captain Vancouver's ship, to say nothing of Fraser, MacKenzie and other early visitors—Dame Flora might well find an extra sense of welcome here, a true feeling of hands across the sea.

OVER MY SHOULDER

Old Soldiers' Memories--A Common Bond

CANADIAN author Farley Mowat in his latest book "The Regiment" (McClelland & Stewart Ltd., Toronto) makes the observation that it is not until long after peace has come that soldiers' memories of war really begin to live.

The great turnout, in spite of bitter weather for the recent Armistice Parade in Victoria adds strength to the statement for, between two world wars, the Nov. 11 march to the cenotaph at the Parliament Buildings had dwindled to such feeble proportions that Memorial Day threatened to become no more than just another day with a distinctive mark on the calendar.

Until about 10 years ago the parades were becoming smaller and smaller. Incidentally the march became a little tougher each year.

A couple of leg amputees who turned out faithfully every year on their crutches and a dozen or so hardy souls whose medals showed they had fought in the Boer War as well as First World War, kept the parade alive.

RENEW ACQUAINTANCES

Some of those who used to march but had taken to watching from the sidewalks felt a little ashamed as they watched them.

As the years passed Armistice Day became a day when scores of veterans, who had little opportunity during the year of meeting former war pals, made it an occasion to tour soldier clubs in the hope they could renew acquaintance with some of them.

Tongues loosened over a few glasses of beer, could hardly keep pace with the flood of reminiscences: "remember when?" "what happened to?" ... and so on.

Considerate wives who might be fortunate enough to have a husband whose behavior was beyond reproach 364 days of the year learned to ignore any little slip from grace on Armistice Day.

That was a genuine father's day. He could bring home an uninvited guest for dinner—a wartime chum he hadn't met for years, and there would be no reproach.

It is possible that but for the Second World War and the generous gesture of young veterans, Armistice Day might have dropped out of the picture altogether.

When they accepted the Cease Fire Day of the First War as Remembrance Day for them too, its perpetuation as a day when Canada honors those who died in their country's service was assured.

REVITALIZED CLUBS

The young veterans can be credited with re-establishing Remembrance Day to the same extent they have revitalized servicemen's club which, too, were in danger of dying through apathy.

Back to the quotation which prompted this discussion: "It is not until long after peace has come that soldiers' memories of war really begin to live." Farley Mowat, author of "The Regiment" in which it appears writes of First World War, but it is a book that will grip all veterans.

It is a story of infantryman. It is a masterpiece of wartime literature. The story is about The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment of Pictou, Ont., and is a new kind of regimental history.

Facts in the book parallel the record of Vancouver Island's Canadian Scots, or

As Our Readers See It

STEVENSON CASE

Re Rev. Glen Stevenson. Let us be fair, he is a minister of the Anglican church and has received salary and now a pension from that established church and should be well aware of his obligation, to follow its rules and directions at all times.

If in an emergency he felt it his duty to perform a marriage in a United Church, he should then have sought guidance from his Bishop before continuing the practice.

Our friend R. Armstrong is mistaken. The superior of any organization whether it be religious or otherwise, must always have power to correct those under his direction. Discipline is essential to good order. Lack of it is primarily responsible for the chaos of the world today. There seems to be too much sentiment and very little downright good common sense. No Christian ever retires. It is a life service to the very end, though we may retire from material labor.

O. WITHERS.

KINDNESS AND RELIEF

Having been injured in a car accident on Armistice Day I was taken to the Jubilee Hospital by the Saanich police, whose swift assistance and gentleness was as unexpected as it was genuine.

I have not previously been a hospital patient, so the treatment I received and witnessed was a new experience.

The quality of the kindness shown was a revelation to me. Every nurse and orderly did all that was in their power to serve their patients. To watch them, as I did, try and persuade some of the very sick and elderly men to eat their meals was something I will remember.

The meals were excellent. There was sufficient diversity, and they were on time.

One thing I would like to strongly emphasize. Had my car been equipped with a safety belt, I would have received no injury as we were not travelling fast. This life saving piece of equipment should be mandatory on all cars and trucks.

ALBERT R. DAVIDSON.

DISUNIFYING SNEERS

There have been several letters lately in your correspondence columns, and always some from time to time, belittling the value of our constitutional monarchy to the British Commonwealth of Nations of which Canada is senior member.

So I think there should be as many letters replying to them.

Some write in ignorance. All aliens and native-born Canadians fail in responsibility as citizens who do not study and so find out what is our form of government. Others do know and deliberately aim at bringing about the abolishing of the Crown. One means is to sneer at the Royal family, use any possible issue such as this recent one—hoping to disunite us by a "for and against" talking of sides.

Our enemies know that united as we are—we form with the United States a power for peace, humanity and progress, and that alone can deter them in their intention to conquer the world. (Mrs.) ALICE COLCLOUGH. 1263 Richardson Street.

FRIENDS IN NEED

I hope that two young gentlemen who did a very kindly deed on Sunday evening last will see this letter.

My wife and I were slithering about the icy street when a car stopped, picked us up, and took us to the Veterans' Hospital, returning my wife to our home afterwards.

This kindness was done in the loveliest manner—as if our welfare really mattered to them.

Heartiest thanks boys! You are good Canadians! T. J. SHEA.

The Brief Lovely Days

BY the time this is printed, I suppose, the cold snap will be over, which is too bad. Real weather never lasts long enough with us. Winter passes with a brief wave of a white hand and is gone. We return suddenly to the monotony of mere climate.

To take advantage of a fleeting opportunity, I have been walking this week in the best pedestrian season of the year. You can have your summer walks in the green fields, the lush woods and the perfumed airs of blossom. There is nothing so healthful, invigorating and beautiful as a winter walk when the snow is on the ground and the country deserted by all save those who deserve it.

I mean, of course, the birds and the odd walker. All walkers are considered odd nowadays, and the snow-walker will be consigned to the nearest asylum, if he's caught. He must walk, therefore, in isolated country where he won't be apprehended.

ALL the man-made blemishes on the surface of the earth are covered over with a merciful layer of white. Even the modern house can be quite pleasant when plastered with snow, and nature's own scaffolding, the cathedral oaks, is improved by a frosting of snow.

A gardener who has spent all summer pampering a bed of chrysanthemums and now finds them limp and brown, may regret his lost labors, but the spectacle freely provided by the weather, the miles of glistening diamonds, the acres of wedding cake, are better than any gardener can provide.

Against this unbroken background nature's own hues stand out in sharp definition. The apples on some wild seedling tree hang like cold rubies, the rose hips like spurts of arterial blood, and the green of fir and balsam, long ignored, emerges in sudden splendor before the walker's eye.

WHAT was only a swampy puddle at the bottom of the farmer's hill a few days ago is transformed now into a smooth sheet of cut glass—cut by the blades of the children's skates. The whirling figures on the ice, the gay costumes and the squeals of animal pleasure floating across the still air present a Christmas card which you can never purchase in the stores, a picture by one of those old Dutch painters, a little masterpiece by Bruegel. Only in a cold snap can we hope to equal, in this drab country, the lively scenes of better times when the world was young and even grown-up people walked or skated. Only the young appreciate winter nowadays.

AMID the sled was left in my basement the litter of the past, when there were children in my house to use it. I gave the sled to some kids down the road and it was pathetic to see how little they knew of the oldest Canadian sport.

Climbly they tried to propel it down the hill, drove it into a snowdrift, laboriously excavated it, and, finally getting under way, ended in collision with a fence.

These were Canadian kids, native-born, but the snow and the sleigh were alien to them. Their grandparents from Ontario would have been disgusted by their ignorance. Still, the inherited instincts and skills of old time had not quite disappeared. Within half a day these boys had mastered the sleigh intuitively. I left them at their sport, satisfied that they were Canadians after all, despite their unfortunate upbringing.

THE native birds also know how to look after themselves, though in their short lives they can hardly have felt cold before now. Beside a ditch of running water, a bank of wild roses and a tree of wild apples the snow was criss-crossed by the tracks of pheasants, sparrows, juncos and towhees. (They had believed the tourist advertisements and stayed in these parts while the wiser robins fled south long ago.)

A fluff of grey fathers and a tiny scarlet stain in the snow marked the end of some bird's trail and the triumph of some domestic cat. Nature is still red in tooth and claw and goes ruthlessly about her business while men are locked safely in their oil-heated caves, watching queer pictures on a magic screen.

WELL, I felt sorry for the inmates of these sealed compartments as I emerged from the fields and woods upon a rural street. Every living creature except man seemed to enjoy the winter, even man's offspring who are too young yet to be afraid. All the houses were huddled down, the inmates huddled about their television sets or reading the paper to see what the weatherman held in store for tomorrow.

But on the porch of a poor, old-fashioned house a poor, old-fashioned lady of rosy face and many forgotten winters was sprinkling bread crumbs and talking to a little company of birds in their own language. I stopped to greet her in an inferior dialect called English and she said it was a lovely day.

STORM IN A MILK GLASS

From Bossy to Jimmy, Milk Raises Problems

MANY a youngster, the focal point of dinner-table coaxing to drink his glass of milk, has come to the conclusion that he must be a very important person to warrant all this attention. As his slightly older brother or sister might put it, he doesn't know the half of it.

For little Jimmy the milk drinker—and nutritionists say he should be getting a minimum of a pint a day—is an important person. He, and his fellows, are the backbone of an industry which accounted for nearly $29 millions worth of dairy products in British Columbia during 1954.

Tangled Problems

How to get the milk to Jimmy at the table has posed problems to producers and distributors that have at times proved almost insuperable. For behind that glass of foaming white beverage there is a complicated tangle of farmers' investments in dairy herds, of feed costs, sanitation needs, freight charges, processing and bottling problems, delivery costs and labor disputes.

Before Jimmy can quaff his glass answers must be found to most of these questions and compromises must be made on the rest. Down through the years attempts have been made by the farmers and the distributors, as well as by various governments, to find lasting solutions. Often the efforts have led to blind alleys and the end has been worse than the beginning. Wide-open competition didn't seem to work. Tight government restrictions also led to further problems.

Investigation Needed

A little more than a year ago Mr. Justice J. V. Clynne, of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, was appointed a Commissioner to investigate the milk industry in this province and make recommendations as to how it could be improved.

His report, issued earlier this week, may well mark a new era in British Columbia's dairy industry. It is the most far-reaching study yet undertaken, and the Commissioner's conclusions, given serious legislative consideration, could conceivably free the industry from many of the difficulties which threaten it with bankruptcy.

The Victoria consumer's main interest, quite naturally, will lie in the possibilities of cheaper milk, the means of getting it into the home, and the assurance that the product is fresh, clean and germ-free.

It is obvious from the outset that Mr. Justice Clynne has a full realization of the consumer's needs. Again and again in his report he stresses the fact that farmers who can not produce milk efficiently should not be protected by price regulations to the point where the consumer now available. People turn to milk powders and other alternatives when they feel the weekly bill for whole milk is becoming too high. Mr. Justice Clynne thus has figures to back up his contention.

Again, with the consumer's interests in view, he urges that if stores can sell milk at less per quart than home deliveries, then they should be allowed to do so. In Victoria this would entail shipment of carton milk from Vancouver to be sold in chain stores at 22 or 23 cents, compared with the present 24 cents for bottled milk and 26 cents for cartons.

Highest Prices

That this would be a popular move with householders may be taken for granted. Victoria's milk prices are the highest of the fourteen Canadian cities mentioned in the report. British Columbia prices in general are the highest in Canada.

But this is not due to farmers and distributors grinding huge profits out of the trade. In Vancouver, for instance, where milk is delivered to homes for 22 cents a quart, the average distributor loses 2.16 cents on each bottle left on the doorstep. It costs six and a half cents to deliver a bottle to a home, whereas it costs less than a cent and a half to deliver a bottle to a store to be picked up by the customer. (Losses on house deliveries are made up on bulk sales, ice cream and other products.)

For this reason the Commissioner sees the need for some sweeping changes in the delivery system. Routes might be amalgamated, the driver may leave three quarts twice a week instead of one a day, and so on. Only by such means could deliveries be made economical.

Safeguard Quality

One thing the housewife will insist on, of course, is that no attempts to lower production or delivery costs shall be permitted to endanger the quality of the milk. In this regard Vancouver Island appears to hold a high place. The dangerous health conditions which the Commissioner describes on some mainland farms do not apply here. The Island producers have been regularly inspected and their standard is high.

But the question of sanitation is a large one and has been closely studied by Mr. Justice Clynne. It might well form the subject of another article on Monday.

Korean Debate Resurrected

STURSBURG

UNITED NATIONS—So far, the Assembly has been a conciliatory, if somewhat humdrum, affair, with unanimity the rule on the main political issues, but the Korean debate has put a stop to that. Now, a ghostly wind of the cold war is blowing around committee rooms here—and it is a chilling and depressing experience.

It is as if the bad old past has come to life again, and there are enough of the veterans of the old knock-down-and-drag-out Korean debates of a few years ago in the political committee today to make it seem that way. Furthermore, they would seem to have dug up their old recriminatory speeches for presentation again.

There is Dr. Julius Katz-Suchy, the combative Pole, who, once carried on a filibuster, speaking from notes handed him by aides and keeping, extraordinarily enough, to the subject. For three endless hours, his abominable English accent assaulted our ears in Lake Success.

Then, there is Jacob Malik, of the Soviet Union, one of the leading figures of the old days, who during the month of August, 1950, renamed the Month of Malik, prevented the Security Council from doing anything about the Korean War. He is back on the old pitch now, denouncing the American bombing of civilians in Korea ad nauseam.

SAME SPEECH WRITERS
On the American side, the grandfathersly Warren Austin, with his sonorous senatorial tones, is gone and so is his pugnacious assistant, Ernest Gross. A newcomer, Jacob Blaustein, an old millionaire, who is making his first appearance here, spoke for the United States, but he equaled the old-timers in the harshness of his manner—apparently the Americans have the same writers as in the cold war days.

As in the past, the Korean debate got off to a bad start with a long and bitter wrangle about inviting both sides. Usually, the Soviets propose that both the North and South Koreans should participate, but they did not have to do so this time, as the Syrians had already done it.

However, the Americans insisted that only the South Koreans could be present, as they had done before—a clear demonstration that they do not believe that times have changed or do not want to recognize them if they have. After a series of votes, the Americans got their way, and only one side was invited.

CANADA ABSTAINED

On the key Syrian resolution which would have invited both the North and South Koreans, the vote was 14 in favor to 34 against and 10 abstentions. Canada was among those who abstained, and we did so as a protest more than anything else against the whole tenor of the debate.

Krishna Menon insisted that neither of the Koreans, and certainly not the South Koreans alone, could take part in the consideration of the neutral nations' repatriation commission's report, which formed the second part of the Korean item.

It was largely due to the Indians, who wanted to present the report of this commission whose chairman they were, that the United Nations took up the subject of Korea which it had been avoiding like the plague.

The Americans refused to go along with Mr. Menon; they said that the South Koreans had the right to discuss anything, including the neutral nations' report and had the votes to give them that right. So, the Indian delegate simply withdrew the report.

Thus, the committee was left with only the empty husk of the report of UNCURE, the United Nations' commission on the unification and rehabilitation of Korea, a commission which is so obviously unable to carry out its mandate that it hardly ever meets.

It is a grim business and everyone has to go through the motions, knowing that it will do no good. The Americans blame the Russians and the Russians blame the Americans. Canada's chief delegate, Paul Martin, while laying the responsibility of the continued division of Korea squarely at the doors of the Communists and the Communist system, appealed against recrimination.

If there is one thing the Korean debate will not do, it is to unify Korea.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Beauties on the Screen

LONDON—The average English woman is certainly a dumpy, buxom person—if statistics mean anything. The board of data has spent four years using measuring devices on 5,000 women and has come up with statistics that will be incorporated in a handbook for the clothing trade. According to these government researchers, the average woman here has these measurements: Height 5 ft. 3 ins.; weight 130 lbs.; bust 36½ ins.; waist 27; and hips 38½.

I've never seen any figures on the average Canadian woman but it's a safe bet that she has more length and less width than what you see around these parts.

FRIEND OF MINE HAS BEEN COMMISSIONED by a magazine to do an article on professional Santa Clauses, those gents who dress up each year and dandle kids on their knees at department stores. But he will probably have to abandon the project. Not one of the London stores will cooperate on his research. They all say: "We don't want to destroy the illusion."

ITALY'S APPROACH TO CAPTURING of the world's film market is to pack their movies with as many Italian beauties as they can unearth. A new one in the news here is Anna Maria Sandri, a 19-year-old charmer who is in this country to do some filming. Rivalry among these girls would seem to be intense. When I met her at a party I asked: "What do you think of Lollobrigida?" She said: "You think of Lollobrigida?"

STRANGEST TRUE STORY THAT HAS cropped up for some time concerns the Hall sisters. They are 28-year-old twins who live up in Birmingham and they've lived a sheltered life, to say the least. They've always been in bed by six, have never been to a show, have had no boy friends, have never worn makeup or nylons, have never had any spending money of their own. Their only time spent away from the family home has been to go to work each day.

This came out when their father died. He ruled the household with a rod of iron seldom encountered even in Victorian times and their mother was too afraid of him to try to convince him that such a life of seclusion for two perfectly normal girls was harsh in the extreme. Now that he is dead she has let them out of what was virtually a prison and they are now catching up on everything they've missed.

Why would a man cut his daughters off from the outside world? Frederick Hall's reason: During the First World War his sister got involved with a soldier and he was not going to let his daughters be exposed to temptation.

IVOR NOVELLO IS A NAME WITH A wealth of meaning to English people, by virtue of a succession of romantic musical shows on a lavish scale which he wrote and appeared in for many years at Drury Lane Theatre. About the life and loves of monarchs and their mistresses in such European countries as Laurentia, they were so English as to be non-exportable and never found their way to North America, though greatly successful here.

But now you'll be able to see a screen version of one of them—"King's Rhapsody," starring Anna Neagle and singing-dancing-regal Errol Flynn. It's the new and hard-to-take Flynn.

SERIES BY HIS VALET

Hitler's Private Life

Invasion of Russia began on schedule, despite fears. Hess had told his British "hosts" of Hitler's war plans

By HEINZ LINGE, Hitler's Personal Valet

(World Copyright 1955)

BERLIN—About five weeks after Rudolf Hess flew to Scotland, Hitler and his generals launched the campaign against Russia, Hitler thought Hess would have told the British about the impending attack, but he refused to allow it to interfere with his plans.

"The war with Russia will be over so quickly that no one will be able to do anything about it," Hitler said. "It will be over before Christmas, and you will be enjoying the fruits of the Russian harvest."

The date of the attack was June 22, 1941. Hitler was in a good mood as he boarded the train for Bartenburg in East Prussia with Generals Keitel and Jodl. We were heading for "Wolf's Lair," the command headquarters he built there in 1939.

It was Hitler who nicknamed the stronghold "Wolf's Lair." He was particularly friendly with a family named Wagner whose children called him

Top Generals Sidetracked

The first news reaching command headquarters was good. The army was pouring over the Russian frontier and making rapid progress toward the Ukraine.

In these first days, Hitler said to me: "Linge, I am the man who can do it."

There was no better indication of the complete change which took place in Hitler's attitude beginning with the attack on Russia. In his previous campaigns, he was content to give an outline of his ideas to his generals, and leave the planning and execution to them. Now he had decided to take complete command and issue the orders from Wolf's Lair.

From the earliest days of the Russian campaign, Hitler, Keitel and Jodl were being deceived

'Red Indian' War Tactics

"This war on Russia," he remarked to me, "is entirely different from the wars in the West. I have told every officer to carry next to his sword the books by Carl May dealing with Red Indian warfare. That is how they should fight the Russians... wait for them behind trees and bridges, then jump out and kill them."

As favorable news continued to come in, Hitler invited Mussolini to the front and soon he became impatient for his arrival. He wanted to show II Duce the victories he had planned himself.

The moment Mussolini reached Wolf's Lair, Hitler flew him to Uman in the Ukraine to show him the panzers in action. There Hitler mingled with his troops and took field kitchen meals with them.

As the troops crowded around him, Hitler would say:

"Have I told you lies about Russia?"

Italians Fouled Up Inspection

The inspection of the Italian division did not go as planned. We were to meet it head-on, and drive slowly past as they marched onward. Somehow, the division got the wrong idea. It was marching in the wrong direction so that we overtook it instead of meeting it. Not until our procession of 20 cars was well among them did the troops realize that Hitler and Mussolini had arrived. Someone gave the division an order to halt and eventually we saw the divisional general come running toward us, putting on his helmet as he ran.

Then we received an excited ovation. The troops shouted: "Duce! Duce! Duce! Heil Hitler! Heil Hitler!"

It was a Fascist division. The men were untidy, not very well disciplined, and not very warlike in appearance. But from Hitler's expression, you would have thought he was inspecting the finest soldiers in the world. Later, when we were back at his private quarters, Hitler said:

"I know, Linge, they are no good. But what can I do? I suppose I must have some allies, although it would have been much better for Germany if Italy had been neutral. England could never have been sure so long as Italy was neutral and would have had to give her help with food and raw materials. Instead, it was Germany who has had to help Italy."

could do in the Russian winter was to stand fast. So now he issued an order there must be no retreat of any kind. He was disillusioned completely when he realized that the men were short of winter clothing.

All plans had been made for a short, sharp war. It became necessary for a public appeal in Germany to send supplies of warm clothing to the front.

However, nothing could be done about tanks which could not move because their oil was frozen, or locomotives which could not go forward for lack of fuel, or breaches of guns frozen hard and other calamities brought about by the intense cold.

Hitler was furious. He sent for General Brauchitsch, who was in command in the field. He deprived him of his command and sent him back to Germany.

"I was a corporal in the first war, Linge," he said. "I know what the soldiers want. I will take command of everything."

There were many other dismissals. And as Hitler sat in his Wolf's Lair, he realized his hopes were buried for that winter. But he was not completely disheartened. More than once he said to me:

"Good fortune anyone can take, only the strong can take misfortune."

Next, Linge tells about Hitler's quick succession of Chiefs of Staff.

Nurserymen Meet Sunday to Assess Cold Spell Damage

A meeting of the Vancouver Island Nurserymen's Association will be held Sunday to assess damage from the recent cold spell.

Losses totalling about $75,000 are feared.

Nurserymen say the cold killed or injured growing plants, and a shortage of replacement plants is likely next year. Hardest hit were perennials, shrubs and conifers. In some cases new plants will have to be imported from areas not so hard hit by the cold.

Full extent of the damage won't be known until growing starts in the spring.

WEEKEND SERIALIZATION

Tale of Seven Fateful Days
Hailed as Great Saga of Sea

Alistair MacLean, 32-year-old author of H.M.S. Ulysses, the novel of the Arctic sea war which will be serialized in our Weekend Magazine starting Nov. 26, is a schoolmaster in the town of Clarkston near Glasgow in Scotland. H.M.S. Ulysses is MacLean's first novel, but his book is already ranked with The Cruel Sea and other book leaders in the literature of World War II.

MacLean wrote his book when a publisher's representative who had seen his short pieces about the sea in Scottish magazines urged him to write a full-length story of seafaring life.

He is the son of a Scottish minister and during World War

II served as a rating in the Royal Navy, most of the time as a torpedoman in a cruiser.

Even before H.M.S. Ulysses was published in Britain a few weeks ago, this book by a young and hitherto unknown Scottish schoolteacher was a smashing success. Collins, its Glasgow publishers, had ordered a record pre-publication printing of 135,000 copies.

A London magazine had bought British serialization rights, a large British book club had chosen it for distribution to its members, film rights had been sold to the makers of The Dam Busters, book publication rights had been sold in the United States.

H.M.S. Ulysses is a light cruiser of the Royal Navy and the story of how the ship sailed as a flagship of a convoy escort squadron on the bitter and perilous voyage through the Arctic seas to the Russian port of Murmansk in World War II.

The officers and crew of the

Ulysses, worn out by ceaseless months of fighting both the elements and the enemy, have reached the limit of endurance before they set sail. But it is possible to go beyond that limit and to face greater hardships than ever before, as our narrative describes.

The escort squadron and the merchantmen are ravaged in turn by a terrible storm, a large U-boat wolf-pack and wave after wave of enemy planes, heavy bombers, dive bombers, torpedo bombers, to say nothing of a German heavy cruiser. Human weaknesses and human courage on the bridge gaining rights for powerhouses and in the mess-decks, are portrayed with the same penetrating clarity and force. There are no shore-side scenes and no romantic interludes to disrupt the force of the narrative of seven fateful days in the war at sea.

One thing I have against so-called Christmas books, especially those for children, is that they very rarely have anything about Christmas in them. Mind you, when it comes to Yuletide giving, I still think a book—almost any old kind of book—at all—is way ahead of most of the gewgaws concocted for the gullible Christmas trade.

But you can't get away from this: Most youngsters are expecting something pretty gaudy under the tree on Christmas morning and far too often the slim little package with a book in it does not provoke the wildest enthusiasm. For the very young—and perhaps for us oldsters too who still have some innocent Merry Christmas in our hearts—the best kind of book is a real flashy, real Christmas book. Only, as I say, they are hard to find.

But this year, right at the very top of my list is a lovely little volume called "One Thousand Christmas Beards" by Roger Duvoisin who, for my money, is one of the very best writers and illustrators for children in the business. I already am grateful to him for a wonderful little classic called "Petunia" (and if you haven't seen that one, now is the time to go right out and get a copy for your favorite small fry) and for an earlier real Christmas book called "Petunia's Christmas."

"One Thousand Christmas Beards" is not for the flint-hearted who, for psychiatric reasons, would take Santa Claus out of Christmas. It is about the irritation which the old gentleman feels at having impostors standing around in red suits and white beards on every street corner and in every store all during December. Indeed the real St. Nick gets so mad he goes around pulling the fake beards off the chins of every phoney Santa he can find until he has a great pile of them. Then, Mrs. S. shows him the real meaning of these false Santas and he repents and all ends happily.

The story is warm; the illustrations are wonderful and the colors are the brightest red and green Merry Christmas you ever saw. I don't think you can go wrong with "One Thousand Christmas Beards" for any small reader at least up to the age of nine.

Surfeit of Books Provides Wide Choice

There are other good new books for young readers this season too. In fact, far more of them than I can record or you are likely to want to buy. In the face of such a surfeit, I tend to stick to those books written by Canadian writers and set in our own country.

The best work of this year seems to be for boys. There is John F. Hayes' "Bugs in the Hills" another of this first-rate story teller's yarns for lads around twelve. Like the others, the background is thoroughly authentic, this time a story of a youngster in the West near Winnipeg around 1875. He gets involved in a long trek through to Fort Macleod, lots of Indian fighting and plenty of action generally. The result is first-class fare for the young of that age.

So is "Sukanabi" by D. R. King, a story about a young lad, fresh to Canada from Scotland, who also gets involved in the Indian troubles in the West at about the same period as "Bugs in the Hills." Either one of these books should satisfy any red-blooded boy you have on your list.

In a quieter vein and a contemporary setting, there is Lyn Cook's "Judy and the General" which is about a boy who wants to own a horse. The yarn involves the forming of a 4-H club, a visit to the Royal Winter Fair and so forth.

FINE FEY QUALITY

For those a bit younger, Catherine Clark has written another modern fairy-story in the same vein as her earlier "The Golden Pine Cone." This one is called "The One-Winged Dragon" and it has a fine fey quality which the younger set can enjoy. So has Mazo de la Roche's "The Song of Lambert" which is a nice tale about a lamb.

These, of course, are just a few random titles picked from the long current lists. Sometimes the best bets are old favorites and sometimes too we forget just what the old favorites are.

Reading, to be most effective with the young, should be a family affair with papas and mamas actively participating and recalling some of the books they liked and trying them out on the younger generation.

In these busy days you might

ART in REVIEW

By COLIN GRAHAM

There was a melancholy autumnal flavor in recent word from Paris that Maurice Utrillo, the painter of the streets of Montmartre, was dead. One by one since the war the main talents of our era have been leaving the stage—Matisse, Leger, Dufy, Derain, and now Utrillo. Only Picasso, Braque, Rouault, and Miro remain, and of these all except Miro are in their 70's and 80's.

It would be going too far to say that Utrillo was a great painter. The range of his sympathies and obsessions was too narrow, for one thing, and he lacked the qualities of intellect one expects in a painter of major proportions. But it would be ungrateful to complain of his not being a giant when he has given us so much that is pleasurable and endlessly satisfying.

His career has left critics with a fine assortment of conundrums to puzzle over. To me the most baffling of them all is posed by the question, How much did Utrillo know about painting?

His best works are full of marvellous felicities of design. Studying them one might be excused for sometimes thinking them the result of the application by a cunning theoretician of subtle compositional knowledge. His color often seems to owe much to a study of the Impressionists' devices and is used structurally in his painting with such effect one would swear he had studied the Venetians, Cezanne, and the Cubists as well.

Yet there is no evidence (that I have come across at any rate) to show that Utrillo had any intellectual grasp of the principles of painting. Nor was there any sign that he either cared for or studied the paintings of others.

The natural son of the self-taught painter Suzanne Valadon, Utrillo was also self-taught apart from the few hints his mother must have given him.

In the absence of more specific knowledge about his views on art (even his closest friends seem to have been largely in the dark about this) one must evidently assume that he was one of those intuitive talents, so rare in history, that achieve through instinct what most painters of ability achieve after

STAMP CORNER

SOME NOTES ON CURRENCIES:—While most of the countries of the British Commonwealth that are in the sterling area have their pound rated the same as Great Britain's at $2.80, there are a few exceptions worth noting. Australia's pound is, of course, the chief of these, being valued at $2.25 or so, or 20 per cent less. This rate naturally applies to the territories under Australian control as well as Papua, New Guinea, British Solomon Islands, Gilbert and Ellice Islands, Norfolk Island and Tonga.

Fiji has its own pound, valued at $2.52, or 10 per cent less than sterling. Pitcairn Island, however, which is administered by the High Commissioner for the Western Pacific (who has his headquarters at Fiji), is on a straight sterling basis.

Though India has severed direct connection with Britain her money is more or less tied to sterling, for her rupee is today rated the same as before at 1 shilling 6 pence. Colonies which use this currency, such as Ceylon, Mauritius, Seychelles, Bahrain and Kuwait, can therefore be figured at 21 cents to the rupee.

The new catalogue written by Roy Wrigley of Vancouver, listing all the known varieties of Canadian stamps perforated "O.H.M.S." for use on official mail, has suddenly been taken off the market due to an injunction against its sale, obtained by a prominent Vancouver stamp company which claims that the system of numbering used by the author had already been copyrighted by them. The case will appear in the Vancouver courts next month.

Canadian Jacket Design for American Edition

Land of the Long Day by Doug Wilkinson was published by Clarke Irwin on Nov. 3. American rights have been sold to Henry Holt who will publish next spring. They are planning to use the Canadian jacket design, a most effective photograph of the Arctic sun casting the shadows of an Eskimo and his dog team across the sea ice of Eclipse Sound.

The figure is Idlouk, a master hunter and Doug Wilkinson's foster father, during the year he spent in the Eskimo village of Pond Inlet in the Eastern Arctic.

DID YOU KNOW... by Heaney's

LOUIS XIV OF FRANCE WAS PROBABLY THE WORLD'S MOST EXTRAVAGANT MONARCH AS WELL AS BEING THE LONGEST TO REIGN. HE WAS CROWNED AT THE AGE OF 5 IN THE YEAR 1643 AND RULED AS KING FOR 72 YEARS. HIS EXTRAVAGANCE MAY BE SEEN TODAY IN THE REMARKABLE PALACE OF VERSAILLES WHICH HE HAD BUILT BY THE FINEST CRAFTSMEN AND ARTISTS OF HIS DAY TO DISPLAY THE ELEGANCE AND GRANDEUR OF FRANCE. ARCHES, STATUES, MARKED WALLS, GARDENS, FOUNTAINS AND GEOMETRIC PATTERNED FLOORS BECAME THE ENVY OF THE WORLD. THE ENORMOUS PALACE WOULD HOUSE 10,000 PEOPLE AND THE STABLES WERE BUILT WITH STALLS FOR 2500 HORSES. MANY MEN LOST THEIR LIVES IN THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE BUILDINGS AND MUCH OF THE WORK WAS DONE WITHOUT PAY. HOWEVER, IT IS ESTIMATED THAT MATERIALS AND PAID CRAFTSMEN RAN THE COST OF THE PALACE TO ONE HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS.

Grand and expensive Palaces of the past did not provide the comfort of a modest modern home with automatic oil heat. HEANEY'S regular oil delivery service adds additional convenience and removes all the old fashioned toil and discomfort of attending fires. Phone HEANEY'S now and enjoy a service no king could ever command.

GRUBER CONDUCTS

It's Official! Expert States Victoria Needs an Auditorium

The subject of an auditorium for Victoria has been discussed from time to time for some years. The current outburst of enthusiasm is really nothing new, but simply the latest of a series. In vain, so far, have I been saving Beethoven's "Consecration of the House" Overture for our inaugural concert at the new (so far, mythical) auditorium.

I haven't given up yet, either. It is just the time element which has forced a revision of plans, to wit, I am instructing my attorneys to add a clause to my will, to the effect—that I shall be my daughter's grandson who shall conduct this appropriate piece on the occasion of the opening of the Victoria Civic Auditorium—in my absence, presumably, and, who knows, with an orchestra subsidized by the City Hall.

Hans Gruber

From time to time our Society has been taken to task for not showing a more concrete interest in this question of an auditorium. In years past, I have myself attended a number of singularly abortive meetings, together with representatives from other city organizations whose activities would benefit by the presence of an auditorium.

I am now of the opinion that people like us should not meddle in this matter.

We of the Orchestra have, to begin with, a day-to-day struggle

Nor can I view it as a piece of seriousness that a delegation should undertake a trip to view the Spokane Coliseum. It would be more to the point to devote the money such a trip costs to an auditorium fund. This sort of thing is just so much more playing around.

If we are ever to have an auditorium in Victoria, it is only necessary to have a small group of top-flight financial experts of unassailable reputation to work out a plan for financing the building of the hall and for determining the way to operate it once built, and secondly, an architect who is not only a top-flight man in his field, but who also understands the problems of acoustics in relation to the needs of an orchestra, of stage productions, of chamber music and solo recitals, of musical comedies, light opera, even grand opera.

Such men, I know, exist right here in Victoria. If any inspection tours to other cities and other auditoriums are made, they are the ones who should make them.

And now I am off to my attorneys about my will.

Japanese Actress For 'August Moon'

'Rashomon' Star's Intangible Quality Wins Her Role in Film Version of Play

By HENRY GRIS
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—It movie producer Jack Cummings has his way, Machiko Kyo will work with Marlon Brando and Glenn Ford in "The Teahouse of the August Moon" which rolls in Japan next April.

Machiko is the Japanese actress who made Marlon Brando coo like a dove when she visited Hollywood recently at the conclusion of a trip around the world.

Brando met Machiko on four occasions. The first was at producer Sam Goldwyn's dinner, the second was a lunch party at MGM studios, and the third a special Hollywood showing of Machiko's latest picture, "Yang Kwei Fei."

The fourth was described by the Japanese guests as a "picnic" which Brando himself gave in honor of the actress and Masahiko Nagata, head of the Daei film company and Machiko's boss.

Brando admitted he was fascinated by the fragile doll-like beauty and gracefulness of the visitor, whom he described as "adorable." So was the MGM top brass upon whom rested the final responsibility for approval of the Cummings plan.

"Studio executives who met Machiko agreed with me," said the producer, "that she has something intangible that makes her a great international star."

When Cummings, responsible for the recent "Interrupted Melody" and "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers" was handed "Teahouse" as his next venture, he decided to break with tradition. Consequently, last April he went to Japan to look for a Japanese leading lady and to ascertain if the John Patrick comedy could be filmed in Japan instead of Hollywood.

He found out it could, much to the film's advantage, and also interviewed quite a few Japanese actresses for the feminine lead. Machiko was among them. And none, he said, compared to her.

"I don't claim to have discovered her," Cummings added. "That honor belongs to Mr. Nagata who, six years ago, took her out of a Tokyo musical show in which she danced and made a star of her in the finest Hollywood tradition. The world now knows her best as the star of 'Rashomon.'"

Since meeting Machiko, MGM officials say it's up to Nagata whether she appears in "Teahouse," and Nagata announced before leaving for Japan that he approves the casting and considers the opportunity for Machiko to appear in an American movie too good to be turned down.

Conducts at 81

Pierre Montoux began a two-week stint as conductor of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Nov. 17. The man is in his 81st year, but he presided from the podium over the opening night of the Metropolitan Monday night, and then on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday conducted the Philharmonic.

The last time he conducted the orchestra was in 1944. Dimitri Mitropoulos, the orchestra's musical director, invited him last spring to take over this season as a birthday tribute. Montoux was 80 last April 4.

SOLO SPOT

Stanley and Corol McCartney Share Interests, Ambitions

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

Every now and then when they get time off from their various 9 to 5 jobs—when they lay aside routine household chores and don't have to consider rehearsals, a first violin, first clarinet, first flute, horn and bassoon of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra exchange bows and tubes for rod and tackle and hie them off to one of Vancouver Island's rich fishing spots.

For Stan and Corol McCartney it's carrying their partnership beyond the orchestra where they originally met and beyond the four walls of their Gorge Road apartment into the relaxing hobby in which they take an equal delight.

Stan likes stream fishing with rod and fly, but Corol, despite her flexible violin bowing wrist, fishes only from a boat. She explains this discrepancy with: "There just hasn't been time for Stan to teach me."

PROFESSIONAL GOAL

For these two young, immensely talented musicians there is also, only one conceivable shared ambition. Not hard to guess what it is. Naturally they want to become fully professional musicians. Which means, of course, that eventually they will be lost to Victoria.

In the meantime they are important, hard-working members of the Victoria Symphony. Upon Stan's shoulders falls much of the clarinet solo work, while Corol, as assistant concert master, carries a particularly heavy assignment.

When Corol moved to Victoria she had already had a good deal of orchestral experience, having been a member of the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra.

She had first studied violin with Garbovitzy, then with Clifford Evans, with whom she Maurice Evans has been signed to star as King Magnus in a new production of Bernard Shaw's comedy, "The Apple Cart," opening Oct. 18, 1956 on Broadway under the auspices of Charles Adams and Joseph Neebe.

still works. She has two brothers and one of them was also subjected to violin lessons at an early age.

"With him though, it just didn't take," Corol says, laughing. Now she herself is teaching a class of violin students but none so far has been guilty of doing what her brother did just before his lessons came to a sudden end.

He was discovered struggling to read through a sheet of music placed upside down on the rack.

BROTHER FIRST TEACHER

Stan too came from Vancouver but Victoria has been his home since high school days. His brother started teaching him clarinet. The brother, Douglas, was a member of the Navy band during the war and among the original members of the Victoria Symphony when it was organized in 1940 under Melvin Knudsen.

Another brother was a trumpeter and both elder McCartney boys played in the Kitsilano Boys' Band at one time. Stan graduated to the Symphony Orchestra after serving an apprenticeship in the late Alfred Prescott's high school band.

In their brief married life, Stan and Corol have not so far found time to do much playing together. But one of their most cherished wedding presents was a piece of music for violin and clarinet written for them by their good friend, first horn player Hans Stelzner.

TIME OUT FOR STUDY

This summer provided the two with their most stimulating musical experience to date. They took off for New York, Stan to study with Daniel Bonade, professor at the Juilliard School and for many years solo clarinetist with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, while Corol's heart was set on obtaining lessons from the great Joseph Fuchs.

This adventure proved that Corol, with her quiet piquant charm and gentle manner, has plenty of the necessary strength of purpose and character to take her far in her career.

"He had not even answered a letter I wrote," she tells you, "but I got in touch with him anyway when I got to New York. At first he said he was much too busy to take any pupils, but as I had come so far, he agreed to give me an audition."

The upshot of this audition was that Fuchs gave Corol three lessons in New York and arranged a scholarship for her so that she could follow him to Blue Hill, Maine, where he was to teach for two months.

Both McCartneys agree that they are still thinking about these tremendous experiences and deriving benefit from them.

They are young, they are gifted and they have attained a high degree of skill in their chosen art. They are willing to work at what comes to hand—Stan is with the provincial government forestry department—but they keep their eyes on the future and their ambition.

Well, at least if Victoria can give them nothing else, it has given them time and opportunity in which to grow and invaluable experience.

They are our fellow citizens—and ours has been the privilege.

Break-Word Fun Blocks

How quickly can you fill in the missing letters of the skeletonized words above? They're found as follows: Copy each letter now showing in the empty blank or blanks directly beneath it. Then, using the letters in the lower blanks, guess at the missing letters and try to form short words, likewise placing the same letter in all blanks of respective vertical rows.

When the correct letters of the key words are formed throughout the lower diagrams. While it is not necessary to fill in an entire diagram to get the answer, it is interesting to note how many short words appear therein. One possible answer for each problem above is given below. If you find these without difficulty, see if you can find others.

Higher Earnings Consolidate Previous Stock Market Gains

By PATRICK FELLOWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The stock market got off to a good start this week, consolidating last week's gains on the strength of a flood of dividend payments, higher earnings, increased production and the prospect of further stock splits by large U.S. corporations.

But the drive ahead halted with new anti-inflationary measures announced by the U.S. federal reserve board.

At New York early-week prices zoomed ahead. Stock markets at Toronto and Montreal joined the advance of the New York market, but lacked much of its steam.

After the close of the market Thursday, the U.S. federal reserve board announced a boost in the discount rate, of 1/4 to 2 1/4, for federal reserve banks. The move, the fourth increase since April, was described as an anti-inflationary measure.

After the close of Friday's market, the Bank of Canada also announced it was raising the discount rate from 2 1/4 to 2 3/4, an all-time high.

FEW MAJOR CHANGES

Toronto turned up few major changes during the week and there was a lack of corporate news affecting individual issues. Insurance stocks notched a few smart gains but in light trading. Confederation Life at $190, and Canada Life at 170, each chalked up $10 gains.

Ford lost much of its sharp advance of last week, moving off $9.50 to $141.50. Chrysler and Goodyear were stronger motors. George Weston A and B issues each gained $6.25.

Gains in some seniors moved the base metal index a little higher. Hudson Bay was one of the losers, dropping $3, most of it in ex-dividend trading.

Steep Rock was popular, adding 1 1/2. Among the juniors, Coppercorp remained active, gaining 28 to $2.30.

Western oils won spasmodic support but ended somewhat weaker.

GERMANY MAY BEAT U.K. AT STEEL PRODUCTION

DUESSELDORF, Germany (UP) — A government announcement indicated today West Germany will pass the United Kingdom as the biggest European steel producer for the first time.

West Germany's iron and steel mills in the first 10 months of this year exceeded last year's record production, the government said. Production of iron and steel will reach 21,000,000 tons, up 25 per cent over 1954, if the same rate is continued, the announcement said.

Dual Market System Urged at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG (CP) — The Winnipeg grain exchange has proposed a dual system of grain marketing, involving both a futures market and a return to free markets.

However, royal commission chairman Walter Gordon questioned whether such a plan would be generally acceptable to western farmers.

"There is no use suggesting policies that will not have general acceptance," the head of the federal economic probe told exchange officials.

The exchange had maintained there might be such acceptance. "But can you substantiate that with evidence?" he asked.

So far, the evidence he had heard was to the contrary, Mr. Gordon continued.

A. S. Leach, the exchange's chairman, said he would accept when he suggested there would be acceptance of a change from the present system of compulsory marketing under the Canadian wheat board, he did not mean to advocate a complete overthrow of the present system.

What the exchange proposed was a dual system, a system under which producers would get some form of protection against low prices through federal subsidies or other aid, though the ultimate price of the grain would be gauged by prevailing prices on the free market.

C. D. Howe To Speak In Victoria

Trade Minister C. D. Howe, will deliver the keynote address at the annual convention of the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C. in Victoria Dec. 3.

He will speak at the annual luncheon meeting in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel where more than 300 professional engineers from all parts of B.C. are expected.

The two-day convention will be the first to be held outside Vancouver by the association, which represents the 2,800 professional engineers and engineers-in-training in the province.

In addition to the business sessions Friday and Saturday, there will be a special Awards Luncheon in the Empress ballroom Friday when recently registered professional engineers will be awarded their certificates, and awards for special merit will be distributed by president H. C. Gunning, P.Eng.

Westerners Do Not Favor High Tariffs

REGINA (CP) — Westerners generally do not favor high Canadian tariffs but this attitude may have to change if the West is to do more processing of its raw materials, spokesmen for Saskatchewan businessmen said here.

The Saskatchewan Board of Trade and Regina Chamber of Commerce observed in a combined brief to the Gordon economic commission that the province has a big potential in natural resources: Gas, oil, sodium sulphate, uranium, coal, timber, clays, pulpwood and others.

They also observed that Canadian producers are not always able to compete with imports from the United States for the Canadian market.

While Canada allowed a number of American manufactured products into this country at low duties, the U.S. apparently has a policy of eliminating duties on imports of raw materials and placing stiff tariffs on manufactured goods.

Beaverbrook Profits Gain

LONDON (AP) — The Beaverbrook Newspapers Ltd., founded by Lord Beaverbrook, today reported a net profit of $380,647 for the year ended June 30, compared with profit of $336,908 the previous year.

The Beaverbrook newspapers — The Daily Express, Sunday Express and The Evening Standard — estimated that a 26-day newspaper strike this spring cost $500,000 in revenue, while the loss due to a railway strike was $60,000.

U.S. Reduces Credit To Fight Inflation

By WALTER BREDER JR.
NEW YORK (AP) — The United States cracked down hard this week on inflationary aspects of the boom.

The crackdown — a new and tighter government squeeze on credit — found most lines of business surging ahead at breakneck speed. Primary aim of the new move: to make it harder for consumers to go into hock, and more expensive for businessmen to borrow money.

Here's how the government did it: Federal reserve banks raised the interest rate that commercial banks must pay on the huge sums they borrow from the federal reserve system. The new rate — 2 1/2 per cent — is the highest since 1934.

PAY MORE

This means that neighborhood banks may have to pay more for the money it borrows, and will probably charge higher interest on the money it loans out. Speculators will find working capital harder to come by — consumers may pay higher rates on home mortgages and auto loans.

According to many economists, business in the last few weeks has started ahead so fast that dangerous runaway tendencies have developed.

Earlier this week, the stock market buoyantly thrust to within striking distance of the all-time peak it had reached just before the president's heart attack. (At week's end, the market declined moderately on news of the federal reserve's higher rediscount rate).

SALES RACE AHEAD

Store sales forged ahead. The steel and auto industries, working overtime, were straining to the limit. Steel output (estimated this week at nearly 99 per cent of capacity) fell short of booming demand. The auto industry today rolled out its seven millionth car of 1955. That compares with a total production of less than 6,700,000 cars for all 12 months of 1950, up to now the record-breaker.

Meanwhile, the upsurge in production, sales and business overall had inflationary side effects. First, there was the danger that consumers — buying on-the-cuff as never before — might get so deeply in hock that they'd have to quit buying many consumer goods until their debts got paid off.

The boom also generated an upward pressure on prices. Steel scrap — vitally important to steel-making — went up in price this week. Prices were headed higher at the consumer level, too.

A third troublesome aspect of the boom was the continuing shortage of raw materials. Publishers, stocks newspaper (the paper you're reading from now) have fallen to their lowest level in 22 years, as consumption of the material pushes to a record high.

IT LOOKS INHUMAN BUT IT'S HELPFUL!

These iron-wood logs, weighing 40,000 pounds, are handled like firewood by this snaggle-toothed Goliath known as an electric log stacker. Grim as the machine looks, it offers a rest from sore muscles at lumber mills and logging camps. The machine, said to be capable of lifting a whole truckload of logs with one bite, was designed and manufactured by R. G. LeTourneau Inc., of Longview, Texas. Victorians had a glimpse of it at the exhibition held here in connection with the 46th annual Pacific Logging Congress.

A Week's Work

By DENNY BOYD

This was one of those games. One of those: "You touch me and I'll chop ya stinkin' head off" kind of games.

The Victoria Cougars and the Seattle Americans performed their hockey chores with all the crankiness of chaps suffering simultaneously from hangovers and toothaches.

Many of the fans were of the same condition.

Your agent and wife were seated in section 38, in close proximity to the penalty box.

Now, for the record, this particular section of Joe Dukowski's arena has had it's paint blistered recently by the pungent phrasings of several hockey players, notably Ed Dorohoy and Vic Lynn.

The job assigned to your agent was this. Watch Dorohoy. And the others. If they say anything they wouldn't say to their granny, write it. And do the same if the fans are the guilty ones, or anyone else. And be fair.

Another Eddie (Ours) Said a Naughty

It is slightly embarrassing to report that the only person your agent heard use a cuss-word, outside of several of the fans, was Eddie Olson and he plays for us and he used only one naughty word, composed of five letters. Your agent has used the same word on the occasion of mashing a thumb with a hammer.

But that is all beside the point because for this night the players, like the heroes of the Wild West, let their fists talk for them.

And Ed Dorohoy, he didn't say, within our hearing, one single baddie. Ed took a shot of novocaine before the game to dull the pain of his injured shoulder and neither his playing nor his oratory powers were up to snuff.

But one thing we must give Ed credit for was the sneer he sneered at the regulars around the penalty box.

Ed, when fined for his bad language, asserted that, not he, but the fans, did the swearing.

So when Ed happened to be leaning over the time-keeper's bench, he looked up at the regulars, who are no shrinking violets themselves, and gave them such a look.

Dorohoy knew from his old playing days here that often these fans help incite the player-fan rabrubs with their uncalled-for comments.

Answer to End All Sneers

So, rather than pass words with them, Ed sneered with a sneer that told more than any volume of cuss-words. It was a masterful sneer, a sneer to be remembered.

While Dorohoy did it all with his facial muscles, there were others who took a more direct line towards expressing their feelings.

The raw-boned bucks of the Cougars flexed their triceps in awesome fashion.

Olson humped into Seattle goalie Charlie Hodge and like to of squashed the goal-tender against his own goal.

Bill Davidson bloodied Alex Kuzma's nose something fierce and Floyd Hillman, after getting off to a bad start in a jostle with Jack Bownass, took advantage of a slip by the Seattle redhead to land a flurry of punches. This one almost had serious consequences as Bownass received a nasty skate cut on his finger during the scuffle.

So anxious were the Cougars to make an impression on Seattle, that twice Seattle players were held by one Cougar and clobbered by another.

As you might have deduced by now, there wasn't an awful lot of hockey played.

But if you had just seen that sneer of Dorohoy's...

First Totem 'Spiel Biggest Ever in B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The first annual Totem bonspiel, a week-long prelude to the Grey Cup football classic Nov. 26, will start here Sunday morning with 148 rinks from five provinces competing for $11,500 in prizes.

Among the 600 curlers entered in the largest bonspiel in British Columbia's history are former Dominion champions Garnet Campbell of Avonlea, Sask., 1955; Matt Baldwin of Edmonton, 1954, and Bill Rose of Sedgewick, Alta., 1946.

The 'spiel, Nov. 20-25, is sponsored by the Vancouver, Capilano and Pacific curling clubs. Twenty-one sheets of ice—four of them leased from the New Westminster club—will be in use.

Prizes in the eight events range from four television sets to golf clubs. Trophies also will be awarded to the four members of the rink with the best two-and-a-half percent in the two main events, the Totem and Evergreen.

B.C. tops the entry list with 99 rinks, while Alberta follows with 33, mostly from Edmonton, Saskatchewan 6, Manitoba 6, Ontario 2.

Leading entries from Alberta, besides Baldwin and Rose, include Bill Allan, former provincial champion from Olds, and Glenn Gray of Edmonton, who threw three stones on Baldwin's winning rink.

Topping Saskatchewan entries are: Garnet Campbell, skip of the famed Campbell brothers' rink from Avonlea; Carl Battell of Moose Jaw, former provincial champ; Gary Thode of Saskatoon, two-time Canadian junior winner; Howard Wood Jr. of Regina, and Scotty Richardson of Regina, secretary of the Saskatchewan Curling Association.

Other leading contenders include: Roy Forsythe, Vancouver; former Manitoba champion from Winnipeg; Frank Avery, Vancouver, three-time B.C. titlist; Bung Cartmell, Vancouver, 1950 provincial champ; Fred Tinning, Vancouver, member of four former B.C. championship rinks, and Bill Nairn, Winnipeg, Western Interprovincial Football Union referee.

Small-Ball Spinners Offer All-Corners Pin Challenge

By RON COULTER

Two small-ball bowlers out of Esquimalt way are eager to back up their reputations in local five pin circles.

The two—Joan White and John Middlemass—will take on any and all corners in a three-game, scratch double series.

There are, of course a couple of conditions for would-be challengers to meet.

First, the games will be rolled at Esquimalt. Second, the two Esquimalt trundlers must be guaranteed a rematch if they lose, at any alleys, the winners might name.

Alley-boss Larry Marshall is enthusiastic over the prospect that the challenge series might be turned into an inter-alley competition and has offered to put up a trophy to change hands as new winners claim honors.

For those who would be first to accept the challenge, here's what you would be up against.

Joan has been mauling maple in a mighty way this season, currently hitting at an average of 228 pins a game. She holds the alley records for league and open action and has rolled high triples of 873, 871, 757, 710 and 710, to mention a few.

On the other hand, John, a veteran kegler who appears to have hit his peak this season, is knocking them down at a 231 clip per game. He's also had numerous high totals.

In their last outing they bowled from scratch and topped 1,568 pins for three games in a doubles tourney, being shaded for first place by Tony Bishop and Ron Wyatt who claimed a 27 handicap to post a 1,578 total.

Arrangements for the challenge can be made through the alley manager.

In league action at the alleys this week, Irene Oliver pounded out a notable 700 total with games of 218, 202 and 280. Vern Fillman, 338; Des Nex, 304, and Bill Curley at 300 notched commendable singles.

At Gibson's, Bill McKinnon, 849 (326); Cy Wallis, 786, 750; Ray Campbell, 774 (306); Alf Bray, 762; Lloyd Chow, 747 (303); Harry Cool, 745 (319); Lloyd Jones, 725; Ian Ross, 708; Percy Riddle, 706 (311), and M. Eng, 705, were leaders.

Ron Cuth, 837 (388); Stan Bell, 776 (376); Bill Cool, 772; Sheldon Nipp, 747; Doug Spruston, 726; Tom Hawkins, 725; H. Marks, 719; John Torjek, 704, and Phil Smith at 701 led at Capital City. Francis Creswick claimed a 291 single and Joan Entzminger a 290.

In tepid action at Gibson's, Connie McBeth, 580 (211), 552 (201); Ken Munn, 564 (214); Bill Norris, 563 (200); Art Manson, 558 (226); Bud Marti, 556 (236), and Doug Elford, 552 (204), set the pace.

Other leading single games were racked up by Hal Vinnall, 212; Cec Dixon, 211; Len Par-

Terry's Bubble Bursts

Sawchuk Humbled In Chihawk Victory

Chicago 6, Boston 1

By The Canadian Press

It only takes a game, as any goaltender knows, to ruin a goals-against average. It came Friday night for Terry Sawchuk.

Sawchuk was pressing Jacques Plante of Montreal Canadiens for National Hockey League's goal-keeping honors until he and Boston Bruins got a 6-1 working over by Chicago Black Hawks.

Going into the engagement—watched by 6,664 fans at Chicago Stadium—Sawchuk had allowed 27 goals in 15 games. Plante's record is 28 in 17 games. Now the Bruin netminder is five goals behind Plante and has played in two games fewer.

Nick Mickowski was the big man for Hawks. The 27-year-old left winger fired three goals to help Chicago move into a third-place tie with the Bruins. Each team has 17 points, two behind New York Rangers, who trail Montreal by six points.

Centre Ed Sanford and forwards Hank Ciesla and Jack McIntyre added Hawk goals. Boston's only goal was scored by Doug Mohns in the opening minute of the final period.

Sawchuk blocked 31 drives, Al Rollins 39.

All six teams set action this weekend in three home-and-home series. Bruins and the Maple Leafs play at Toronto—tonight—while Rangers and Canadiens battle at Montreal and Chicago meet the Wings at Detroit. Sunday, the same teams pair off in the opposite cities.

He wears the biggest football uniform ever made, size 56 pants and a 62 jersey. Big Herb is a junior at Dundee, Ill., High School.

NORMAL SCHOOL VICTIM

Vic High Rolls On To Third Hoop Win

Victoria High School Totems gained their third win in as many games Friday night as they defeated Normal School, 48-28, in their annual basketball encounter.

Playing the roll of giant killers, Totems led the Normal squad throughout the entire game.

Vic High showed the future teachers that they meant business from the starting whistle, and they opened up in the first half for a 31-10 lead.

Totem coach George Andrews left his second string on throughout the entire third quarter, and they did a fine job of holding the desperate future teachers down.

Although the game was Normal's first loss in five games, they were without the services of Albert Athletic star, Doug Brinham. In previous encounters, the tutors-to-be defeated such teams as Oak Bay Drakes, Farmer Construction and Victoria College.

Former Totem victories include games against the Vic High grads and Victoria College.

High point man for Friday's game was Normal's Skip Montgomery with 17 points. His only teammates to hit the score sheet were brother Larry and former Totem Bill Abbott.

Heading the list of Vic High scorers was Art Chiko with 15 points. Totems' Tom English and Waldo Skillings hit for eight points each.

Normal School women, led by Pat Lisle, defeated the Vic High representatives by the score of 17-11 in a lively but unspectacular preliminary contest.

Willie Promises Better

NEW YORK (UP)—Young Willie Pastrano of New Orleans promised today, "I'll show more speed in future bouts" than he did in his first fight as a heavy-weight Friday night while winning a unanimous 10-round decision over tough Joey Rowan at Madison Square Garden.

The victory in his New York debut earned 19-year-old Willie another TV-radio fight at the Garden on Jan. 6, probably against Chuck Spieser of Lansing, Mich. Spieser lost to Pastrano in a good fight at Chicago on July 27 but knocked out Paddy Young in the second round last Wednesday.

Solomons Solemn Now But Wait for the Fall

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA)—Jack Solomons talks of Ewart Potgieter, who at seven feet two and 320 pounds makes all of the ring's ambling Alps of the past look like Lilliputians.

You are strangely reminded of the late Jeff Dickson extolling the bulk and ferociousness of Primo Carnera in the late 1920s.

Well, if Potgieter, who will be 23 years old next month, fares anywhere near as well financially as did Carnera, Promoter Solomons will be well rewarded for fetching him from his native South Africa to England.

After seven assorted heavyweights laid down and played dead for Potgieter at such places as Durban, Salisbury, Johannesburg and Pt. Elizabeth, Solomons brought him to London in September, so the king-sized youngster could get better workouts and more work.

Solomons, the reformed fishmonger, put the giant in the hands of Nat Sellars, a competent teacher and trainer who conducts a London gymnasium. Potgieter's first act of violence in London was stopping one Simon Templar in six rounds—and the reviews were bad, as they say at the theatre.

"Potgieter is 10 per cent worse than Carnera was at his worst," read one of them.

So Solomons sent Potgieter away from the prying eyes of the London wise-to Cardiff, where Professor Sellars worked in his large package in comparative privacy.

Potgieter looked vastly better belting out the experienced Noel Reed in the second round of his next start. He suddenly had been transformed from a pusher into a puncher.

"I should be talking about Yolande Pompey boxing Archie Moore for the cruiserweight title in London, Jan. 10," said Solomons, when he was here to sign the antiquated gypsy. "After all, that's why I came over—to close the match, you know—but I want to say something first."

"Put this down on your scratch-pad there. Say that Jack Solomons, in November of 1953, informed you that Ewart Potgieter, the biggest man who ever fought in a prize ring, would be heavyweight champion of the world inside of two years. He will be ready in 12 months, but the question is whether he will get the chance right away."

Is Potgieter, somebody boldly asked, another Carnera?

"He would eat Carnera—and then box the rest of the heavyweights around on the same evening," spat Solomons. "He has excellent balance and coordination. It was when he boxed Reed that I became convinced how fine a boxer he is. He boxed Reed in the first round and did quite well."

"In the second round, he fought Reed, kept coming on like 'e was a moving mountain. It was over at the end of the round and Reed—a rather fine boxer, you know—was a bloody mess."

"I want to bring Potgieter to America and start him with a lad like Rex Layne. 'Arry Markson says Layne is too experienced, but he hasn't seen Potgieter and I say it would be no match at all. Take my word for it, Potgieter is no freak."

It will be interesting to watch the build-up and the fall. This will be the biggest fall of all. Ewart Potgieter is so towering and big that he'll have to fall one section at a time.

CALDWELL REJECTS JOB OF RIDER TUB-THUMPER

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders and Chan Caldwell, fired a week ago as head coach, Friday night appeared to be far apart on settlement of his contract which still has more than a year to run.

The Big Four Football Union club offered Caldwell a $6,000-a-year public relations job in a take-it-or-leave-it settlement offer.

Caldwell's lawyer, Ralph Sweet, said he would advise his client against accepting.

"It is not a fair offer," Sweet said. "After all, Chan Caldwell is a football coach, not a publicity man."

Caldwell, 35, former assistant coach at Tennessee University, was signed last February to a two-year contract at $10,000 a year.

Traffic Jam Possible In U.S. Pro Grid Race

By United Press

If five National League teams—the Detroit Lions, Baltimore Colts, Green Bay Packers, Pittsburgh Steelers and Washington Redskins—win Sunday, the division races will be locked tighter than a miser's fist.

In that event there would be a four-way tie for first place in the western division and a two-way tie for the eastern lead. The Los Angeles Rams, Chicago Bears, Colts and Packers would be tied for the western lead with 5-4 records. The Lions (2-6) must whip the Bears (5-3), the Colts (4-4) must defeat the Rams (5-3), and the Packers (4-4) must down the San Francisco Forty-Niners (3-5).

The Bears are favored by 13 points to boost the league's longest current winning streak to six at Detroit. The Rams, tied with the Bears for the lead, are six-point choices at Baltimore. The Packers, tied with the Colts for second, are slim, one-point favorites against the Forty-Niners at Milwaukee.

To deadlock the eastern race, the Steelers (4-4) must defeat the champion Browns (6-2) at Cleveland and the Redskins (5-3) must defeat the Cardinals (3-4-1) at Chicago. The Browns, who lead the second-place Redskins by a game, are 11-point favorites. The Cardinals are one-point favorites.

Vancouver Island Viewpoint

From Up-Island Newspaper Editorial Columns

New BCFP Partner

THE COWICHAN LEADER—Appearance of an American firm as a major shareholder in B.C. Forest Products Ltd. is of more than passing interest.

In the development of resources, history often repeats itself. When the United States was much younger and her west coast undeveloped, some of the capital required to span the continent with steel and set up industries came from Britain. This fact is worth keeping in mind when we question the extent to which American capital is entering Canada and, in particular, B.C.

Canadians prefer a good bond with a fixed rate of interest to investment in common shares and unforeseen risks. Canada has not the risk capital to develop her own resources. It must, therefore, come from outside. Britain is no longer the world's banker.

BCFP would seem to have made a reasonably good deal. The new firm, Scott Paper, may not now be in the driver's seat of the Canadian firm, although with 1,000,000 shares, at $15 per share, it is certainly in the front seat. B.C.F.P. has 2,000,000 shares now. Its rate of earnings in recent years and its own holdings make it ready for some increase of its capital structure, without any undue strain being felt.

If our information is correct, there are now some 400,000 units of pulp chips being shipped from B.C. each year to Washington state. When the Crofton mill is operating, it is estimated that it may require up to 210,000 units alone, with an immediate—and lasting—contribution to the value of B.C. production.

An Investment in Tomorrow

COWICHAN-COMOX ARGUS—All across Canada there is a problem which isn't a problem, a paradox if you will, the case of the expanding population which grows so fast that it pushes out the walls of even new schools—almost before they are finished. Such is the case in District 71 today.

So this school problem, which is undoubtedly an expensive one to solve, meets this half of the 20th century as a challenge which must be met. It is difficult to persuade taxpayers to pay out more money than is absolutely necessary, yet this is the economical way to foresee and meet expansion. We have passed the day of "make do" in the educational field and we will have to recognize the fact.

Probably one answer may be found in paring down the luxuries and leaving the necessities intact—lighting, sanitation, room to breathe, facilities for recreation—these are important. Frills and what were formerly extra-curricular activities come in the class of at least temporary non-essentials. In a free and democratic country one of the most important of the trusts given into the hands of its government is an adequate education to equip a child to meet the demands of living.

Defeat the By-Law

COMOX DISTRICT FREE PRESS—It will be a sad day for the businesses in this town if the weekly half-holiday is changed from Wednesday to Saturday, and unless we want to lose a good deal of our prosperity we should see to it that Saturday is left as an open all day shopping day.

Although we understand the purpose of the local garage-men's union is seeking the change we feel that the move is ill advised and we have no hesitation in urging the people who have the right to vote to cast their ballot to defeat this by-law.

Under their present agreement, garage workers must have two consecutive days off. This cannot be achieved while Wednesday is the half-holiday.

If it were possible to have the garages closed Saturday afternoon and the stores closed Wednesday it would be a slightly different story. But it is not possible. Under provincial law, all businesses must observe the same half-holiday.

All But 33 Stayed Home

THE LADYSMITH CHRONICLE—Provincial school legislation requires that trustee and representatives elected to represent rural areas shall hold a public meeting each year to report to the ratepayers in their respective areas. In theory this legislation meets a basic requirement of our democratic system of government. In practice, in this district, it accomplishes little more than to drag the trustees and representatives and a few ratepayers away for one evening from their firesides and their TV's.

At the annual school meetings held in this district this year the attendance totaled 33 ratepayers. There were 17 at North Oyster, 13 at Saltair, three at The Diamond and none at the Bayview meeting.

We don't know what the answer is, but we feel that some method should be found to interest people in participating to a greater extent in the administration of their schools. Until an answer is found we can only be thankful that our school board members have not construed this public apathy as a mandate to do as they please and embarked on a wild spending spree. Could we blame them if they did?

Ladysmith Board Orders Plans For New Hospital

LADYSMITH—Ladysmith General Hospital trustees have authorized architects Whittaker and Wagg of Victoria to proceed with working drawings for the $300,000 new hospital to be built here.

The architects expect the plans will be ready for contractors to figure on by the latter part of February, with construction to be started shortly afterwards.

Refusal to Join Union Sparks Municipal Spat

A special committee of Saanich council will meet with Saanich Municipal Employees' Association executive Monday to discuss the case of a man who refuses to join the union.

Councillors Robert Fleming and Ronald Grant were appointed to the committee following a demand by the union that John Cowlin, member of Saanich engineering department, be forced to take out membership in the association, a T.L.C. affiliate.

Cowlin has rejected union membership for over a year "on principle."

The association's contract with Saanich calls for all municipal workers to take up membership following a seven-month probationary period.

REFUSED CARD

Association executives approached Mr. Cowlin a year ago, they told council in a letter, but he refused a union card, on grounds he was a graduate engineer, completing a four-year service term required for registration as a professional engineer.

Since that time, Mr. Cowlin has completed all necessary requirements, and his application is now in the process of adjudication by the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C.

If his application is accepted, the dispute will be at an end, because professional men, dentists, doctors, architects, lawyers and engineers, are not subject to terms of the Labor Relations Act.

Each of these above classifications is covered by its own provincial act.

ACTION DEMANDED

But the Saanich Employees' Association is demanding that the union shop clause of the contract be enforced "without delay."

Compounding the mix-up is the fact that there is nothing in the union contract which requires the municipal council to fire an employee who refuses to join the association.

Association president Joe Brooks said that when Mr. Cowlin's case was first raised 12 months ago, the association did not press the matter because it was understood the engineer-in-training was preparing to take exams for an engineering diploma.

He said Mr. Cowlin did not receive the diploma, and has steadily refused union membership.

Registrar J. A. Merchant of the professional engineers association said Mr. Cowlin "is a graduate engineer. We feel he should be exempt from the union shop clause under terms of the Labor Relations Act."

Cowichan Area Votes Today On By-Law

DUNCAN—Polls opened today throughout School District 65 for ratepayers to cast votes on the $660,000 school building by-law for the district.

A three-fifths majority is needed for passage.

Major item in the by-law is a new high school for the southern part of the district, to have six classrooms, a gymnasium, industrial arts, and home economics rooms.

Largest elementary school item is a new building for Duncan. Other schools to have additions are Tansor, Sahtlam, Kokislah, Westholm Cowichan Station, Mill Bay, Glenora, and Crofton.

Voting will be at the city and municipal hall in Duncan and at schools throughout the district.

BEAUSEJOUR, Man. (BUP)—CCF party leader M. J. Coldwell Friday night demanded federal control over the buying and selling of meat products comparable to the control over wheat marketing.

Coldwell charged both the producers and consumers are at the mercy of the packers.

IS YOUR DRIVER'S LICENCE VALID?

Headache of giant proportions faces B.C. Motor Vehicle Branch superintendent, George Lindsay. Stack of forms are just a few that recalcitrant motorists should have signed in the past three months to renew five-year drivers' licences. Mr. Lindsay estimates 21,000 are driving without valid licences, and warns that road-blocks may be set up by RCMP shortly unless the balking drivers renew them. Licences expire on the holder's birthday. "Have a look at yours," says the MVB head. (Times Photo.)

IWA Wants Payrolls Guaranteed by Bonds

Legislation making compulsory a bond system to guarantee employees' wages will be asked at B.C. Federation of Labor convention in Vancouver this week-end.

Victoria local 1-118 International Woodworkers of America (CIO-CCL) will present a resolution to this effect, following recent difficulty some of its members had in getting wages from a bankrupt firm.

Employers would be required to post bond guaranteeing 30 days' wages.

Woodworkers' local also will ask support for retention by the provincial government of a form of forest management licence system and a cut in freight rates between the island and mainland.

Speakers at the convention will include Labor Minister Lyle Wicks and B.C. Farmers' Union president Leo Davies.

Four Candidates Seek Election

Mediation Set In Mill Dispute

Chief Conciliation Officer Meets Both Sides on Monday

A government conciliation officer has been appointed mediator in the strike of 150 steam plant engineers who have tied up 14 B.C. lumber and shingle mills since Nov. 6.

Chief conciliation officer William Fraser will meet with union representatives and mill operators in Vancouver on Monday.

The meeting was arranged Friday evening here by Labor Minister Lyle Wicks, John Billing of Forest Industrial Relations (for employers), and Herb Flesher, general organizer for American Federation of Labor in B.C.

Decision to ask for government intervention was made at a meeting of engineers Thursday in Vancouver, when Mr. Flesher was delegated to make application to Premier W. A. C. Bennett.

CALLAN TO ATTEND

The premier had offered, Thursday, to lend government assistance if requested by the parties involved.

Victoria local 918 business agents Ed Callan will attend the Vancouver meeting. Two Victoria mills are involved in the walkout.

Meanwhile, striking engineers Friday allowed lumber to be loaded on deep-sea ships.

It was the first sign of a break in the 13-day-old strike.

A union spokesman said the decision to let the lumber be loaded was made "not to cause further embarrassment to longshoremen."

The engineers are striking for a 10 per cent wage increase. They turned down a 10-cent hourly raise over two years ago.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

I have been wondering what is wrong with the women's clothing depicted in the slick-paper magazine advertisements, and now I have found out.

It is not only the clothing which looks wrong, it is the women, too.

They are breeding a special type of woman to wear the special type of clothing decreed by the dictators of the fashion world.

John Robert Powers, whose surname has come to denote glamour when associated with female models, put it concisely the other day.

In commenting on a former model and showgirl who is now a prominent society matron much in the news of late, Mr. Powers said: "She was an all-round, wholesome-looking girl. We don't get calls for them like that any more. Nowadays they want a cadaverous look."

So there you have it, in the words of the great man himself, "They" don't want wholesome-looking girls, "They" want them with sunken cheeks and the lean, hungry look so much abhorred by Caesar.

"They," I presume, must mean the strange creatures who dwell in the half-world of advertising, merchandising, and fashion design.

"They," I'll bet you, doesn't refer to the majority of men in this world.

I would venture to say the average man on the lookout for a mate would much rather encounter an all-round, wholesome-looking girl than a cadaver.

Even in $1,500 worth of Mainbocher, a cadaver can have little attraction for a clean-living, red-blooded Canadian boy.

Fortunately, this far on the outskirts of what is laughingly called civilization, females who follow unwaveringly the instructions of "they" are few and far between.

I suspect the females in these parts are content to look at the lean-hungry cadavers in the fashion magazines, admire the fashions they are wearing (no matter how stupid), then have another piece of pie.

For which I am duly grateful. Let the cadavers remain between the pages of the slick-paper magazines, and the all-round, wholesome girls continue to delight the eye of we Victoria males who are never too old to look.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

George I. Warren can come out of hiding. His slogan, "Follow the birds to Victoria," is still valid, sleek, snow, and ice, or no sleek, snow, and ice.

We've got robins to prove it.

Ex-city fireman William Smith, 68, 430 William, carefully reached for the phone at 11.15 this morning, and breathed, in a controlled voice, to the Times:

"I'm not drunk... neither is my wife... she doesn't drink... but looking out the window now we can see two robins... They're eating apples that dropped off our tree in the yard."

Barry Simpson, Vancouver, was remanded to Monday for sentence when he pleaded guilty to two theft charges before Magistrate A. I. Thomas in Colwood RCMP court Friday.

RCMP said he stole an instrument and children's dishes over $50 value from Dr. Mark Roach, Colwood, and took two blankets and a vacuum cleaner valued under $50 from Miss Florence Norton, also of Colwood.

Victoria and Garden City ridings clubs point-to-point and hunter trials, originally scheduled for Sunday, have been postponed indefinitely due to poor condition of the track, it was announced today.

Charges of driving without licences brought fines of $25 each for Arthur L. Osmond, HMCS Naden, and Ross A. Mills, Gordon Head barracks, when they appeared in Colwood RCMP court Friday.

The Pacific Command destroyer Athabaskan is back in the motion picture business.

Following exercises with units of the U.S. Pacific Fleet in California waters, she is at Long Beach to take part in a film based on Korean patrol duties. Presumably she will play herself.

"Atha-B's" last film role was in the "Sea Chase," where she was cast in the role of a British cruiser.

The destroyer is expected back at base Nov. 25 or 26.

Dr. George Bigelow and Hugh Morrison will make the ninth defence of their city golf bout Sunday at 12.30 at Uplands Golf Club against Jarrod Lineham and Jimmy Robertson.

Nine high school students from the Victoria area who attended the UN seminar at UBC in September will speak on various aspects of UN function at a meeting of the UN Association Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Art Gallery, Moss Street.

Fines of $250 or 20 days in jail each, and licence suspensions were imposed in city police court today on two drivers arrested overnight on impaired driving charges.

Robert Tyre, 925 Hillside, and Norman P. Specht, 970 Maddison, both pleaded guilty to charges of driving while their ability was impaired by alcohol.

Police said Tyre was charged after a slight accident at Blanshard and Kings at about 10.55 p.m. Friday.

Specht was driving in an erratic manner on Government at about 2 a.m. today, court was told.

First shipment of Japanese oranges for the Christmas season will reach Victoria next Friday or Saturday in the Norwegian freighter Peter Maersk.

At least 14,000 bundles, two boxes to a bundle, will be discharged here, the ship's agent, King Bros. Ltd., reported today.

Peter Maersk will also discharge 17 tons of assorted Oriental merchandise for the Christmas trade, including rice wine, lily roots, ginger and Chinese tea.

$6,000 Fire Blamed On Clothes Drying

Clothes drying near furnace pipes was blamed today by officials as the cause of a fire which gutted the home of Richard Porter, 628 Transit, Thursday, causing about $6,000 damage.

Intense smoke poured from the house and hampered Oak Bay firemen who were forced to wear smoke masks as they fought the blaze for about two hours.

Smoke and water damage was heavy, adding to extensive damage caused by the flames.

A kitten died in the fire. The fire started in a basement furnace room. It ate through floor joists, spread over walls and into a main floor bedroom.

A water pipe burst during the fire and sprayed water over a large area of the house.

Firemen tore down plaster walls to fight the flames.

Mr. Porter and his wife, and daughters Virginia, 9, Marjorie, 7, and Donna, 6, were prepared to move on to the main floor this week-end after living in the basement.

Family clothing in the basement and furniture on the main floor was destroyed.

Mr. Porter said the home was covered by insurance but the contents were not.

Mr. Porter, a T. Eaton Co. employee, had done much of the house construction himself over the past 10 years.

City Musician Tries Again For Council

Local orchestra leader Charles W. Hunt today became the ninth to announce candidacy for four seats to be filled on Victoria city council in December.

Mr. Hunt made a previous try for civic office in 1953 as one of five candidates in the race for mayor.

In seeking election December 8 as an alderman, he said: "I do not believe in making election promises, but realize that harmony must prevail in council and all civic departments if progress is to be made."

Mr. Hunt, who is 53, married with one son and lives at 3176 Fifth Street, is an auto parts salesman.

Well-known in city music circles, he was until his resignation three months ago, president of local 247 American Federation of Musicians, a position he had held for 14 consecutive years.

LONDON-BORN

A long time member of Victoria Gyros, he also is a member of Britannia Branch, Canadian Legion, and the Eagles. He was born in London, England, and came here in 1910. He was educated at Boys' Central School and Victoria High School.

Pro-Drew Body Picks Candidate Monday Night

National Progressive-Conservative Leader George Drew today pledged his support to the candidate who will be named Monday night to contest the Victoria riding in the next federal election.

Nomination will be made by the Tory group organized by the B.C. Federal Council, a pro-Drew organization established following the Vernon rebellion.

Major-General G. R. Pearkes, VC, MP, said today he has received a letter from Mr. Drew in which the national party leader promised the candidate named by the convention "the assurance of my full support."

Rebel Tories following the banner of provincial leader Deane Finlayson, met Thursday to denounce the federal group.

ILLEGAL

They passed a resolution branding the federal council association "an illegal body," and said "that council has no constitutional right to run a candidate."

The rebels also urged an early meeting of the Victoria Federal Riding Association, the pro-Finlayson group, to nominate a federal candidate for Victoria.

Said Major-General Pearkes: "The candidate who is nominated on Monday will be the official Conservative candidate, recognized by the national leader and the national association."

He said anyone else running under the Conservative banner would be running as an independent, and would not be entitled to sit in the party caucus if elected.

Monday's meeting will be held in the Business and Professional Women's Club hall on Government Street.

Saanich Couple Wed 60 Years

By PETE LOUDON

A diamond wedding anniversary will be celebrated Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank V. Hobbs at 2830 Hobbs, the street that bears their name.

The elderly couple, he was 93 last Sunday, and Mrs. Hobbs is 90, will celebrate quietly at home. Among expected visitors will be five grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

But in a sense, Frank Hobbs has a great many children, for a grateful district rewarded his 14 years on Saanich school board by naming a school in his honor in 1950, long after his retirement.

The Hobbs came to Victoria from Bruton, Somerset, England, where they were childhood sweethearts and were married at Victoria West Methodist Church in 1895. Mr. Hobbs worked first in the construction of the West Coast telegraph line to Port Renfrew, later bought land at Nanaimo, then came to Victoria and entered the furniture business.

He took Mrs. Hobbs back to England 12 years later, but they returned to the Island and Mr. Hobbs went into the timber business for six years before settling at Cadboro Bay. Mr. Hobbs was postmaster there for 31 years.

Before becoming a school trustee Mr. Hobbs was a Saanich councillor and served for a time as a justice of the peace.

Mrs. Hobbs interests have always been in her home and family. She is a charter member of the Daughters of the Nile.

Anniversary observances by Mr. Hobbs: "I think modern youngsters are smarter than in my day—the girls are sweeter and the boys are tougher."

Speaking as a former school board member, he said he isn't in favor of all the extras provided the modern student.

Has the weather become worse in Victoria or better since he first came to the Island?

"Better... I recall seeing the inner harbor frozen over as far as Point Ellice Bridge... but this is the earliest I've ever seen winter arrive."

50 Cars Checked in Search For Hit-and-Run Motorist

City police have checked about 50 cars without results in an intensive search for a hit-and-run driver who left an injured pedestrian lying on a downtown street during rush-hour traffic Friday.

The young man they are looking for drives a 1940-48-model blue coupe with the first digits of the licence either 42, 46 or 48.

He is described as 21 to 25 years of age, short, dark haired, and wearing a black and red jacket. He was accompanied in the car by two young girls.

Injured in the accident at Douglas and Johnson was Robert McIntosh, 30, 3291 Albion.

He was reported in "fairly good" condition at St. Joseph's Hospital today suffering from concussion and head injuries.

Police said the pedestrian, a B.C.E. bus driver, was crossing Douglas on a green light when a car traveling north on Douglas struck him.

Driver of the car stopped and ran back to the injured man. Witnesses to the scene heard him remark he had hit the injured man.

The driver then said he was going to move his car off the road. He got in the car and drove off, turning west on either Cormorant or Pandora.

POWER LINES BURN IN HOUSE FIRE

Unusual pictures taken by David Birley, 590 Transit Road, show burning power lines at home of Richard Porter, 628 Transit, which was gutted in $6,000 blaze late Friday afternoon. Top photo shows insulation on wires flaming. The smouldering wires, bottom, were cut to prevent further damage.

HEALTH OFFICER CORRECTS 'GOLDEN STAPH' FIGURES

The number of cases of staphylococcus infection isolated in St. Joseph's Hospital is 11, not 45, as reported by Victoria-Esquamalt health department Friday.

The wrong total was given to The Times through a transposition of figures in the health report, which made it appear that the total of all city cases, 45, was the St. Joseph's figure.

Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffey, medical health officer, says the correct totals at the time statistics were taken were: Royal Jubilee 30, Veterans' Hospital six, St. Joseph's nine; a total of 45, which was an increase of 12 in the week.

Dr. A. J. Brunet, medical superintendent at St. Joseph's, later said the total there has now risen to 11 cases.

Alderman Seeks Permanent Base At Gordon Head To Ask Council Appeal to DND

A Victoria city council move to have Gordon Head Army Camp established as a permanent military base is the aim of Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

He announced today council will be asked next week to take steps to keep the second battalion of the Queen's Own Rifles stationed here.

The 500-member battalion has been stationed at Gordon Head for six months and is scheduled to be moved out next year.

The battalion came here after Korean duty. It was announced the riflemen would remain at Gordon Head for 18 months.

OTTAWA FAVORABLE

Ald. Edgelow says Ottawa may be receptive to the idea of making this city the battalion's permanent home.

Other segments of the regiment are stationed at Calgary, Edmonton and Toronto. Most of the men here were recruited in Eastern Canada.

The alderman said it's estimated the battalion spends close to $140,000 a month here.

He added that if Ottawa feels the Gordon Head camp facilities do not lend themselves to permanent use, council should recommend the garrison be moved to Work Point Barracks and a permanent base arranged there.

City Labor Group Supports Exnelled Official

Support of Victoria Labor Council (CCL) has been given ex-Vancouver electricians' union agent George Gee in his efforts to be allowed a working permit pending his appeal from expulsion from International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL-TLC).

He was expelled from the union for alleged communist affiliation. Because of a closed shop agreement adhered to by his former employer, B.C. Electric Co., he has been unable to work at his trade.

A permit from the union would allow him to work until his case is heard by the international body in 1958. Gee has filed lawsuits in an endeavor to quash the union ruling.

Shipyard Job Starts Soon

Yarrows Ltd. is planning a $250,000 expansion to its Esquimalt yard to keep up with expanding business in the heavy industry field, H. A. Wallace, vice-president, said today.

Main additions will be a new plate shop and a machinery erection shed, equipped with a 25-ton crane to handle heavy erection work.

A considerable portion of Yarrows present work is devoted to fabricating machinery for B.C.'s expanding heavy industry. "We feel this expansion will continue," Mr. Wallace said, "and want to keep up with it."

Plate shop and erection shed will each be 250 feet long, adjoining each other on the site of the present canteen, which will be relocated. The plate shop will be 35 feet wide, the erection shed 55 feet wide.

TENDERS SOON

Tenders for the work will be called soon, Mr. Wallace stated, and work started as soon as possible.

Yarrows has recently completed expansion of the main office block by the addition of another story. All drawing offices have now been consolidated under one roof.

Mr. Wallace said the flow of work coming in to the plant was keeping "fairly steady." Present employment force is nearly 900.

POST OFFICE JOB

In other building news in this area, the federal government plans to proceed with the reconstruction of the old post office as a customs building early in 1956 to provide employment during the winter months.

Building trades here predict an early call for tenders, which may run to $500,000.

Victoria architects Whittaker & Wagg forwarded the plans to Ottawa two months ago. A modern three-story block will be built on the site of the present building on Government Street.

HOSPITAL PLAN

Tenders are expected to be called toward the end of November for construction of additions to the psychopathic ward at the Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Plans for the fireproof building were drawn by architects Whittaker & Wagg and tenders will be received by hospital administrator George Masters.

The same architectural firm is also designing a central supply building which will be erected immediately adjacent to the recently extended staff dining room and used to house instrument sterilizers.

Rescue Tug Due This Afternoon With Freighter

The Victoria tug Island Sovereign, towing the Greek freighter Adamas which ran out of fuel 500 miles out in the Pacific Ocean, was expected to arrive at William Head this afternoon.

Sovereign picked up favorable weather late Friday after battling hurricane-force winds Thursday, and during the night towed at a steady six and a half knots.

The freighter radioed for aid Monday when fuel ran low, and the tug picked up her tow in heavy weather early Wednesday morning.

Adamas was coming here in ballast from the Orient, scheduled for repairs. She will be berthed at Esquimalt harbor.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Warm Cashmere-Lined Gloves Selling at Reduced Prices

By PENNY SAVER

They're really warm inside, and hard-wearing outside. That's the description of the cashmere lined, heavy cotton knit gloves that are selling at a reduced price in a local store. In small, medium and large, they come in yellow or tan. They have two-inch cuffs for added warmth. Originally priced at $4.50, they're now $2.95. An exceptionally good buy... take advantage of the price and tuck a pair away for a gift.

Here's something else to tuck away for Christmas. At first glance you can tell that this scent combination is for a special person, who loves attractive, glittery things.

Tucked inside a clean plastic scuff slipper that is a mass of sparkly gold, there's a jeweled top bottle of flower mist, which is stronger than cologne, but not so strong as perfume. Tied to the heel of the slipper is a bottle of complementary perfume to make a perfect gift. The initial cost of the perfume and mist together is $6.50, and that's what the whole packaged gift item is priced... just $6.50. So you don't even pay for the glittery slipper that has a silver and gold feathered pompom on front. It comes in a fitted box, so it's easy to wrap.

To dress up some favorite gloves or to trim a plain, and basic dress that is an all-purpose stand-by, try using the narrow white bunny fur ribbon. It's a soft and pure white that is most feminine looking. For children's clothes, too, it gives a touch of elegance that they love. Skating costumes and hats will take on a whole new look, and the cost will be small in comparison with the pleasure one received from wearing something truly smart. The price? It costs $1 a yard.

For that special party that's coming, if you're going through the "not a thing to wear" phrase here's an opportunity to add an accessory blouse that will look terrific with an adaptable evening skirt. This blouse is of white lace, lined with net. It has three-quarter length push-up sleeves and a wide, scalloped scoop neckline. Tiny rhinestone-studded buttons accent the front.

Or in a slightly different style, there are similar lace and net blouses with tiny Peter Pan collar, rhinestone button fronts, and puffed three-quarter length sleeves. Either blouse costs $5.98. You'll use it through the winter season and right on into summer. Mix and match 'em with whirly skirts, and you'll have stunning, different outfits for those special parties.

Call me at 2-3131 and I'll tell you where to find the items mentioned.

Here Are Suggestions For Expectant Mother

Pre-natal care, I believe, is always a timely subject. Therefore, I would like to list a few suggestions for the expectant mother.

1. Go to your doctor as soon as you suspect that you are pregnant.

2. Follow his instructions carefully as to periodic visits and urinalysis examinations.

Many women feel that this is unnecessary and therefore build trouble and danger for themselves and their child by delaying the first visit to a doctor. Possible complications, when detected early, can usually be avoided.

3. Eat a well-balanced diet with the additions your physician will suggest but watch your weight and do not become fat yourself.

4. Get plenty of rest and sleep. Short rest periods several times a day will be beneficial.

5. Do not take a laxative or an enema without your doctor's permission.

6. If you have any unusual symptoms such as bleeding, discolored mucus, backaches or abdominal pain, get in touch with him immediately.

7. Leg cramps sometimes are due to calcium deficiency. Your baby needs lots of calcium. That is why you probably will be advised to drink more milk than usual. If cramps persist ask your physician for help.

8. Unless some unusual condition exists, daily walking is splendid for the pregnant woman. Most doctors warn only to avoid fatigue.

9. It is always a good idea to put your feet up when sitting. This is restful and will help avoid varicose veins.

10. Do not climb up on chairs or ladders. A fall might be serious.

11. After the baby comes, begin reconditioning exercises as soon as your doctor gives you permission. This is usually after six weeks. Follow his advice in this matter.

12. Do not dread delivery. Modern anaesthetics have taken most of the pain out of it. Motherhood is one of the most wonderful experiences in a woman's life—from the first thrill of knowing that a baby is on the way to the first time you feel your child move, to the first time you hold it in your arms, on down through the years.

The Moana Hotel and sails of a native Katamaran are seen as a backdrop for a rather recent innovation into the Island fashion world. This costume known as a T-timer, has a Mandarin styled coat slit from neckline to hemline in front and from knee to hemline at the sides. The pants are very narrow, coming just below the knee. Of pure silk pongee fabric, in natural shade, the coat is printed with Birds of Paradise in vivid blue and red.

Against a background of tropical leaves, with Diamond Head rising in the distance, Caroline models the native Muumuu. It is in a leaf green cotton, with tiny animal figures. On her feet we see the native at-home slipper-cotton tabs.

Don't Put Up With Husband's Treatment

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

When things go wrong, the first thought of many wives is to pack their bags and leave. When there are children, this is not a good solution.

(Q)—"I've been married a little more than three years and have two small children. When my husband comes home from work, he never talks to me. Sometimes it's late before he comes home for supper and then, after supper, he gets dressed up and goes out again. He never asks me to go with him and never tells me where he goes. Sometimes, he doesn't come back until after midnight. He doesn't want me to go out at all, not even to my mother's once a week. I have tried to please him but he still won't talk to me. What should I do now, leave him? I could go to work as any of my relatives are willing to keep the children during the day. Or should I just put up with the way he treats me?"

—J.N.

(A)—You should not "just put up with the way your husband treats you" nor should you walk out and deprive yourself and your children of a home.

No man has a right to treat his wife and children as your husband is treating you. I suggest you discuss this matter with your minister and ask him to talk to your husband. If this does no good, then ask your minister to help you make arrangements to take your problem to the domestic relations court.

If your husband is unwilling to behave as a husband and father should, then the next step will be to sue him for a legal separation. He would be required by the court to support you and the children.

It would be very unfair to your children to leave them with relatives while you went out to work when they have a father who is capable of supporting them.

Muumuu, Holoku, Chinamuu All High Style in Hawaii

By NONA DAMASKE

So thrilled is Times fashion editor Nona Damaske with the sunshine and blue skies of Hawaii, she has extended her vacation another week. In the meantime she has amassed a story on fashions in the sunny isles for her column.

HONOLULU—

WHERE THE SUN IS SHINING

"During a fashion show at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel that I attended with Bobbie White, public relations director for Matson Lines, we discussed the change of season, fashionwise, in Hawaii.

"It seems impossible for me to imagine much of a change as the climate is so temperate. However, Mrs. White says that she definitely has a summer and a winter wardrobe.

"Very fine woolsens are now on display in the shops and there is a tendency toward more silk and brocade rather than cottons. At the same time cottons are never really put away because the tourist does not, as a general rule, follow the pattern of a winter wardrobe out here.

"Tourists wander along Waikiki Boulevard barefooted and in swim suits. They wear weird hand-woven straw hats with bright blossoms much as the tourist in Victoria wears the tartan tam-o-shanter.

"There are a few quite definite rules which you find to be in order. I've noticed everyone who lives out here does wear a dress or pedal pushers to town. No shorts, or swim suits. Dress is quite a bit more formal at the Royal Hawaiian than anywhere else. At the Moana, where I am staying, we may eat breakfast in swim suits but the men are required to wear an Aloha shirt as well. Gloves are just non-existent and hats are worn only to church.

"During the day, at Waikiki, the flat thong sandal is worn almost exclusively. More dressy shoes are seen later but almost none of the women wear hose. Beautiful hand-carved ivory, jade and shell jewelry is the most popular.

American styles are, of course, much in evidence here in the islands but the native costumes are still worn to a great degree.

"The Muumuu (shown in one of the pictures I sent with this letter) is designed primarily for comfort rather than looks. It is a Mother Hubbard garment of bright cotton or rayon and is worn in the home for very informal occasions. This was the garment, by the way, designed by the missionaries when they first arrived on these islands and found the native women wearing only green-leaf skirts. The muumuu is loose and is traditionally worn without undergarments.

"The Holoku, most graceful of traditional island styles, is a formal gown of cotton, rayon or silk, princess style, with a long train. This dress is slightly fitted and usually has a low neckline. The Holoku, slightly less formal, is the same dress, minus the train.

"Showing an Oriental influence, the Chinamuu or Pake-muu featured frogged neckline, fitted lines, side-slit skirt and long butterfly sleeves. This garment is often seen in pure silk or rich brocade.

"Right now the Oriental influence is coming into fashion in America. Before I left Victoria, all the fashion magazines were full of pictures of brocade mandarin formals and lounging costumes with an Oriental look.

"Here in the Hawaiian Islands, Bobbie White has told me, western women residents have always had a wardrobe of Oriental clothes as well as one of western styles."

DEBUTANTES OF YESTERYEARS

Shadow of War Hovered Over Government House In August, 1939, When Largest Group Received

By ELIZABETH FORBES

War clouds hung heavy over Europe on Friday evening, Aug. 25, 1939, but the note of breathless uncertainty did not diminish the excitement of the debutante ball at Government House.

Twenty-five demure young girls made their curtsies before His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Eric W. Hamber . . . twenty-five white-gloved hands clutched nosegays in a tremor of expectancy shadowed by a mite of shy hesitancy . . . twenty-five pretty heads, blonde, brunette and Titian, whirled with the excitement of it all, with the joyous invitation of the music . . . with the admiration in the eyes of their escorts.

Never before in the history of British Columbia had so large a bevy of young ladies made their bow to society in unison, and seldom before had Government House been so electrically on fete as it was that evening.

Times women's editor of that day, Mrs. Nancy Hodges (now Senator Hodges), wrote of it the following evening:

"Twenty-five pretty and vivacious young debutantes who, except for sun-tanned shoulders, suggested dainty ballerinas in their frothy white frocks of net and lace, held the limelight and heightened the effect of a huge floral ballet, as nearly 600 members of the younger set of Victoria and Vancouver danced at the delightful ball at Government House last evening."

TWENTY-FIVE YOUNG LADIES BOWED THAT NIGHT

"Making their formal entry into society were Miss Cynthia Yarrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Yarrow; Miss Elizabeth McMurray, daughter of Capt. and Mrs. R. W. McMurray; Miss Ruth Horton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Horton; Miss Mary Stephens, daughter of Eng.-Cndr. and Mrs. G. L. Stephens; Miss Anne Ridewood, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Ridewood; Miss Joyce Winsby, daughter of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. W. N. Winsby, and her cousin, Miss Joy Winsby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Winsby; Miss Caro Wyllie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan H. Wyllie; Miss Rosemary Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Williams; Miss Diana Ker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Russell Ker; Miss Patricia Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Capleton Cole; Miss Priscilla Wright, daughter of Mrs. J. E. Goldring; Miss Helen Woodcroft, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Woodcroft; Miss Mary Worsley, daughter of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. R. S. Worsley; Miss Gwynne Thomas, daughter of Mr. W. Llewellyn Thomas; Miss Louise MacBride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Duncan MacBride; Miss Audrey Eberts, daughter of Mrs. Harold Eberts; Miss Jane Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen C. Holland; Miss Geraldine Paterson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. Paterson; Miss Margery Lindgren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Lindgren; Miss Mary Pearce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Pearce.

"Also in the group are Miss Barbara Jackson (Bimmie), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin R. Jackson, Cobble Hill; Miss Mary Henderson, from Capetown, South Africa, who is visiting her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Palmer, in Victoria; Miss Gerry Lunn, Miss Frances Bull and Miss Barbara Nation, all of Vancouver. (Miss Nation later moved with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Nation, to Victoria.)

"As with all the Government House functions, perfection marked the arrangements and the flowers have never been more beautiful," Mrs. Hodges continued.

"Vivid dahlias, gladioli, asters, zinnias, golden glow and other flowers were massed in the hall, corridors, reception rooms and in the ballroom, in all the gamut of autumn's brilliant color symphony."

"In a seemingly never-ending line, the young guests filed into the drawing room, where His Honor and Mrs. Hamber received them, the hostess looking lovely in a bouffant gown of white starched net worked all over in a delicate tracery of thread, with which she wore a diamond tiara, necklace and bracelets and silver slippers."

Reminiscing today about the ball, Mrs. V. G. Pinhorn, the former Miss Elizabeth McMurray, says: "You know, we were almost all Norfolk House girls. A few had gone to St. Margaret's, but the greater number were graduates of Norfolk. We knew each other so well, and that made it all the more exciting."

Mrs. Pinhorn also remembers that favorite hairdressers with the younger set in those days were Maudie and Nan at the Empress Hotel. "They were so very good to us that night," she says, "they stayed late on purpose so we could dash in, have our hair primped up at the last minute, put our flowers on, and then dash out for pictures and to attend the big dinner in one of the private dining rooms at the Empress Hotel. We were all there. After the dinner we went on to Government House."

Big Surplus Butter Sale Planned

Canada May Sell 6,500,000 Pounds For East Germany

By VICTOR MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Negotiations are nearing completion for the sale of more than 6,500,000 pounds of surplus Canadian butter to a European importing firm which, in turn, is reported to have buyers in East Germany, behind the Iron Curtain.

The importer, according to informed sources here Saturday, is a concern with its head office in the Netherlands.

The federal government's Agricultural Prices Support Board is reported to have received notice of a firm offer from The Netherlands' importer for 3,000 long tons (approximately 6,600,000 pounds).

The negotiations are understood to have included a request for an option to buy an additional smaller quantity. The total sale if completed might amount to nearly 10,000,000 pounds.

RESEMBLES CZECH SALE

The deal would be similar to that completed earlier this year under which 314,832 pounds of butter were sold to Communist Czechoslovakia for 37 cents a pound—19 cents less than the going price for butter established by the Prices Support Board.

The price for the new deal could not be learned Saturday. Government sources declined to disclose what price was involved pointing out that the deal was still under negotiation and no firm price had been fixed upon at this stage.

$1.4 MILLION LOSS?

If the price is 37 cents, as it was in the Czechoslovakian deal, the loss to the government will be around $1,400,000. The pegged price paid under the price support program has been increased by carrying charges of several cents per pound.

In the Czechoslovakian deal, the Canadian exporter in Montreal sold sweet or unsalted butter obtained in Saskatchewan. He then withdrew an equivalent amount of 1954 salted butter from the government's stocks.

Total butter stocks, including the 1955 surplus production, in government's hands, have been estimated at 95,000,000 pounds.

Sunderland Swamped 8-2 By Luton Town

LONDON (Reuters)—Luton Town today swamped Sunderland, English First Division soccer league leaders, 8-2. The defeat sent Sunderland down to fifth place in the standings.

Luton Town, promoted from the Second Division this season, whipped the powerful Sunderland outfit by ramming in four goals in a 13-minute spell in the first half. The league leaders never recovered.

Only five days ago, Sunderland was nosed out 1-0 by the Moscow Dynamo squad.

Blackpool slipped into the league's top spot today by edging West Bromwich, 2-1. Manchester United blanked Chelsea, 3-0, to total 23 points—same as Blackpool—but an inferior goal average put United in second place.

Third and fourth places in the First Division now are held by Charlton and Burnley, respectively, with Sunderland close behind. Luton's victory today gave it ninth place.

FINAL SCORE
ALS 38
ARGOS 36

MONTREAL — Montreal Alouettes led Toronto Argonauts 26 to 24 at three-quarter time in their sudden-death game here today for the Big Four football championship.

After being down 24-9 at halftime, Alouettes staged a thrilling comeback to pile up 17 points without a reply in a wild third quarter.

Winner of today's game goes into the Grey Cup final against the western titleholders, Edmonton Eskimos, at Vancouver's Empire Stadium next Saturday. Eskimos defeated Alouettes in last year's final.

Crowd of 23,000 jammed Molson Stadium for the final, played in 32-degree weather. Fans lined up three hours before game time for general admission seats.

Alouettes had pulled into a 9-0 lead at the end of the first quarter of a field goal by Bud Korchak and a converted touchdown pass to Tharp and Al Pfeiffer, and Shatto and Tharp scoring over on ground plays for the others. Pfeiffer converted three of the touchdowns. The Argos' other point came on the final play of the second quarter when J. C. Caroline was fouled on Gerry Doucette's kick.

Then the Argos blitz descended. Duxinski threw two touchdowns passes to Tharp and Al Pfeiffer, and Shatto and Tharp scoring over on ground plays for the others. Pfeiffer converted three of the touchdowns. The Argos' other point came on the final play of the second quarter when J. C. Caroline was fouled on Gerry Doucette's kick.

Drivers Fall Prey To Icy Streets

Cars and trucks slipped, slid, clashed, clanged, and in some cases capsized early this morning when freezing temperatures transformed wet streets briefly into glistening sheets of ice.

Most serious accident injured four persons slightly at 8.55 a.m. on the Patricia Bay Highway when a car driven north by James O. Mulligan, 1637 Davie, collided with a car being driven south by Mrs. C. D. Eves, Bazar Bay.

According to reports, Mr. Mulligan's car started to slide, and Mrs. Eves skidded as she attempted to avoid an accident. Damage was estimated at $1,200.

No one was injured in an earlier crash when a car driven north on Cordova Bay road by Mrs. Kathleen Northrup, 4317 Majestic, skidded on ice north of Mount Douglas and crashed into trees that prevented her from tumbling over a 70-foot bank. Total damage was $1,000.

COAT OF ICE

Motorists found that driving conditions generally were good at 7 a.m. By 7.30 trouble was beginning, and by 8 o'clock portions of the pavement that had been wet were coated with ice.

After about an hour conditions began to improve. "Temperatures kept dropping gradually all night," said weatherman William Mackie in explaining the brief freeze-up. "The coldest time usually is just before dawn, and today the temperature obviously did not reach freezing point until that time. When the sun came up the streets cleared again."

Highways department officials said roads in the district, including the Malahat, were "fine" with the exception of a few icy spots.

"Sand trucks are out, and we will be watching the roads all night," a department spokesman said. "We will have 24-hour shifts at work."

Mr. Mackie predicted continuing mild temperatures, with variable cloudiness, isolated showers, and some sunny periods for the week-end.

Temperatures will range between 35 and 45 degrees tonight and Sunday.

150 Search For Deerholme Man; Tracking Dog Used By Rangers

More than 150 men today fanned out from Deerholme, four miles west of Duncan, in search of Lewis W. Billings, 36, missing since 6 a.m. Thursday when he set off on a hunting trip.

"He told me he would be back at 10 a.m.," his wife told the Times today. "I don't know where he went, but he usually hunted toward Cowichan River, a mile north of here."

"I think he must have had an accident," she said. Taking part in the search are RCMP, Deerholme and Duncan residents, and 12 members of the South Vancouver Island Rangers from Victoria, who took a tracking dog with them.

The missing man is a sawyer at the Tommy Dahl mill in Deerholme, and the father of two young children. The family lives on Glenora Road, Deerholme.

He was not missed until late Thursday. Snow began falling in the area shortly after he set off, and from nine to 10 inches was reported later in the day.

An unsuccessful search was conducted Friday by 35 Deerholme residents and RCMP.

Mrs. Amy Dahl, Mrs. Billings' aunt, acted for Mrs. Billings in making arrangements for the search. Frankie Morse, well-known Victoria rifle shot, had charge of the Victoria rangers' party.

Notre Dame d'Esperance Hospital, where Marie's sister Cecile and Yvonne are training as nurses, said she will be kept under observation for a month.

3 Kicked to Death By Mob in Morocco

RABAT French Morocco

(AP)—While Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef held consultations today in his palace aimed at restoring peace to Morocco, an angry mob trampled to death a caliph and two other persons in the palace courtyard.

The slain caliph, an assistant to the pasha (governor) of Fez, was Taleb el Baghdad. He was known as a former sympathizer of Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat, who replaced Ben Youssef during his two years of exile, which ended this week. Arafat now is in retirement in Tangier.

French reports said the caliph drew a pistol and a dagger after he was attacked, but the crowd jumped on him, stabbing him and then trampling him to death. The fighting became general in the inner courtyard, where delegations were waiting to be received by the newly-restored sultan.

FIND OTHER BODIES

No French police were present, only nationalist party members serving as monitors. When the fighting died down, two more bodies were found.

After violence was reported in Marrakech, a native policeman shot and wounded a Moroccan woman and a man. A crowd quickly gathered, poured gasoline on the attacker and burned him to death.

Surplus Butter
Sale Planned6,500,000 Pounds Reported
Destined for East Germany

By VICTOR MACKIE, Times Ottawa Correspondent
OTTAWA—Negotiations are nearing completion for the sale of more than 6,500,000 pounds of surplus Canadian butter to a European importing firm which, in turn, is reported to have buyers in East Germany, behind the Iron Curtain.

The importer, according to informed sources here Saturday, is a concern with its head office in the Netherlands.

The federal government's Agricultural Prices Support Board is reported to have received notice of a firm offer from The Netherlands' importer for 3,000 long tons (approximately 6,600,000 pounds).

The negotiations are understood to have included a request for an option to buy an additional smaller quantity. The total sale if completed might amount to nearly 10,000,000 pounds.

RESEMBLES CZECH SALE

The deal would be similar to that completed earlier this year under which 314,832 pounds of butter were sold to Communist Czechoslovakia for 37 cents a pound—19 cents less than the going price for butter established by the Prices Support Board.

The price for the new deal could not be learned Saturday.

Government sources declined to disclose what price was involved pointing out that the deal was still under negotiation and no firm price had been fixed upon at this stage.

If the price is 37 cents, as it was in the Czechoslovakian deal, the loss to the government will be around $1,400,000.

MONTREAL STARS TO BATTLE ESKS

When Montreal Alouettes meet Edmonton Eskimos in the Grey Cup final at Vancouver's Empire Stadium next Saturday, halfback Pat Abbruzzi, above, and quarterback Sam Etcheverry, below, will be carrying the mail for the eastern titleholders. Abbruzzi was leading scorer for the Al's in the Big Four while Etcheverry, nicknamed "The Rifle," is one of the greatest passers in Canadian football. Abbruzzi and Etcheverry both played leading roles in the A's thrilling 38-36 win over Toronto Argos in today's Big Four sudden-death final.

150 Search
For Man Lost
Near Duncan

More than 150 men today fanned out from Deerholme, four miles west of Duncan, in search of Lewis W. Billings, 36, missing since 6 a.m. Thursday when he set off on a hunting trip.

"He told me he would be back at 10 a.m.," his wife told the Times today. "I don't know where he went, but he usually hunted toward Cowichan River, a mile north of here."

"I think he must have had an accident," she said.

Taking part in the search are RCMP, Deerholme and Duncan residents, and 12 members of the South Vancouver Island Rangers from Victoria, who took a tracking dog with them.

The missing man is a sawyer at the Tommy Dahl mill in Deerholme, and the father of two young children. The family lives on Glenora Road, Deerholme.

He was not missed until late Thursday. Snow began falling in the area shortly after he set off, and from nine to 10 inches was reported later in the day.

An unsuccessful search was conducted Friday by 35 Deerholme residents and RCMP.

Mrs. Amy Dahl, Mrs. Billings' aunt, acted for Mrs. Billings in making arrangements for the search. Franke Morse, a well-known Victoria rifle shot, had charge of the Victoria rangers' party.
